Red Offensive Pushes Back German Salient

Stalingrad, Caucasus in Much Peril

Russians, However, Say Stalingrad Situation Is No Worse Than It Was

Break Is Made

Soviet Force Way Into Rzhev and Kill Many Germans

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Aug. 27 (AP)—While Stalingrad battled doggedly for its life, Russia's central front armies slashed at the German-held Rzhev-Vyazma railway 120 miles west of Moscow today and fought for footholds within the streets of Rzhev in a newly announced offensive that has pushed back a Nazi salient 25 or 30 miles.

Reuters, British news agency, reported the Germans were throwing fresh reserves into the savage battle for Rzhev but were compelled to retreat with heavy losses as the Red army thrust westward.

Although the situation of Stalingrad, industrial city on the lower Volga, was conceded to be critical, the Russians described it as "no worse" and counter-attacks were developed.

German gains in the central Caucasus, however, drew expressions of concern. A tank-led force fought its way to Mordok, 30 miles east of the Prokhladnenski battlegrounds and a jumping-off point for thrusts both toward the oil fields of Grozny, 55 miles to the east, and the Georgian military highway terminal at Ordzhonikidze, 40 miles to the south.

The 15-day-old Russian drive on the central front was intended to eliminate a long-standing German threat to Moscow in the Rzhev-Gzhat-Vyazma triangle and provide a diversion against the German offensive to the south.

The break into heavily fortified Rzhev, on the upper Volga, 130 miles northwest of the capital, was reported made from the north.

Hundreds of Germans were declared added overnight to a previously announced toll of 45,000 Nazi dead in the Russian drive and one Soviet formation captured a fortified position, the Soviet information bureau said.

"In another sector," the mid-day communique announced, "our troops destroyed three heavy German tanks and killed about 400 enemy officers and men. Booty was captured and prisoners were taken."

The army newspaper Red Star declared Soviet vanguards had reached the Rzhev-Vyazma railway, a Nazi north-south supply line 120 miles west of Moscow and that heavily fortified Rzhev was under attack.

While this action developed on a 70-mile front, the Russians admitted the Germans had lanced 30 miles closer to the Grozny oil fields in the central Caucasus, but indicated Stalingrad's position was essentially unchanged.

Red army tank crews, artillery and infantry were reported outnumbered at some points as much as three-to-one in fighting against the German panzers closing upon Stalingrad, steel city on the lower Volga named for Russia's premier.

"A few German tanks succeeded in penetrating the depth of our defenses, but they were destroyed by hand grenades and incendiary bottles," it was announced.

Civil Fleet Proposed

London, Aug. 27 (AP)—Establishment of a civil fleet of 5,000 cargo planes to make Britain "the hub of the world's merchant services" was proposed today by E. C. Gordon England, chairman of the Engineering Industries Association. Addressing the Institute of Export, England declared that such a fleet could complete a trans-Atlantic round-trip every four days and move 150,000 tons of cargo weekly in each direction.

Congress Will Get Bid to Draft 18 Year Old Youths

Chairman Sabath Believes 18 to 19 Group Holds Best Army Material; Recess Possible

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—New draft legislation to make 18 and 19 year old youths eligible for armed service topped a program mapped out today for the waning months of the 77th Congress by Chairman Sabath (D., Ill.) of the House rules committee.

"In all likelihood," Sabath said in an interview, "Congress will be asked this session to permit the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds and will give its approval."

In his opinion, he added, the 18-19 group contains "the finest fighting material available."

Barring any congressional repercussions from President Roosevelt's Labor Day cost of living message, the only other subjects that will be considered at this session, if Sabath has his way, are taxes, Senate changes in the service men's vote-by-mail bill, a new appropriation for defense housing, and a few relatively minor bills.

"There is no reason why, between the time we go back into regular session early next month and the middle of October, we cannot dispose of everything that is urgent and either adjourn or recess until the next congress convenes," Sabath said.

That program, he acknowledged, precluded consideration of pending labor and farm legislation, among other things.

As far as Sabath is concerned, the rules committee will "sit on" proposals for investigation of the Federal Communications Commission, for subjecting labor unions to the anti-racketeering act, for giving farmers loans up to 100 per cent of the parity price of their basic commodities, and for relieving war contractors from payment of state and local taxes on supplies used in connection with war contracts.

"This is a bad time to start a fuss and trouble and create a lot of dissension over the labor problem," Sabath commented. "And it's not the right time to deprive the states of their revenue by relieving contractors from the payment of their local taxes."

Neither does the chairman think the time proper to consider a proposal to develop the St. Lawrence seaway and power project in cooperation with Canada. Sabath pointed out that every bill and resolution not disposed of when the present session of Congress ends in the first week of January automatically is dead and declared "there will be a lot of them not acted on."

Canadian Commander-in-Chief Says Allies Will Have to Invade by Channel; Commandos First

Canadian Military Headquarters in Britain, Aug. 27 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Andrew G. L. McNaughton, commander-in-chief of Canadian forces, today predicted the opening of a western European front, declaring powerful Allied armies "will have to cross the English Channel" to win the war.

The Allies can progress from Commando operations to "larger" attacks, he said. (McNaughton is among the several generals mentioned as a possible Allied commander-in-chief.)

Extensive preparations necessary for the Dieppe raid of last week, which was largely a Canadian show-do not rule out a series of such operations, McNaughton added.

"It's like industrial production," he explained. "Once the prototype is completed the rest is relatively easy."

Gravely considering the question of a second front in Europe, McNaughton said, "you've only to look at a geography. There are powerful British and Canadian armies in the United Kingdom."

Boys Must Pay $10 Each for Harm to Watermelon Crop

Eight boys, ranging in age from 16 to 18 years, were arraigned before Justice Percy Bush of the town of Ulster, Wednesday noon, charged with petit larceny in connection with the raiding of the watermelon patch of Toni Ferlazzo, on the east side of the Saugerties road, a week or so ago.

They were Philip and Michael Staccio of the Saugerties; William Schatzel, Eugene DePaola, Lincoln Park; Donald Baines, 36 Esopus avenue; Robert May, 136 Newkirk avenue; Octave Perry, 127 Chambers street; John Miller, 147 Hasbrouck avenue.

Warrants have been issued for arrest of two others in connection with the case and five boys, under 16 years of age, will be arraigned in Children's Court.

Justice Bush imposed sentences of four months each in the Ulster county jail, but suspended execution of the sentence provided that before September 26 each of the boys appear and pay $10, which payments will go toward reimbursing Ferlazzo for his loss.

The latter estimates his damages at between $250 and $300. The arrests were made by Troopers Arthur Reilly and Edgar Crosswell, who had been investigating the raiding of Ferlazzo's melon patch between August 5 and August 15.

Lindemann Gets Analysis on Deer

Animals at Catskill Game Farm Not Poisoned, Manager Reports

Ten deer which dropped dead less than three weeks ago on the Catskill Game Farms, Inc., near Palenville, are now believed not to have been maliciously poisoned, it was announced today by Roland Lindemann, manager of the farm.

A reply from the Albany Laboratory where an analysis has been under way for several days stated that copper and zinc had been found in the stomachs and livers of the animals but not in sufficient quantities to have caused their deaths.

All of the 10 animals, some of them the most valuable of those on the farm, dropped dead after taking water and the 10 died within 24 hours. One of the deer was a prized Dwyowski buck from Manchuria, of which there were only seven in this country.

The copper and zinc found in the animals, said Mr. Lindemann, is believed to have contributed to their deaths, but he now believes that they had eaten some film and possibly coated "silver" paper. (Continued on Page 12)

Americans Raise Stars and Stripes Above Suez Canal

Army Men at Transit Camp Are Mainly Those in Airforce; Report Sinking of Sub

By HARRY CROCKETT

With the United States Air Force in the Suez Canal area, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Stars and Stripes waved smartly in the breeze in front of a tent here today as the latest arrivals from the United States completed their first flag raising ceremony.

The Colors were hoisted to the top of a small flagpole as hundreds of khaki-clad American soldiers, most of them airforce mechanics and members of ground crews, stood at attention.

These men have been here only a matter of days. This is a transit camp, and all soon will go on to air fields from which American crews already are operating.

This group, along with a large number of pilots, navigators, bombardiers and radio men, formed part of a complement of soldiers which made a remarkably fast trip on a British troop ship.

They saw, and believe they destroyed at least one enemy submarine off the coast of South America, and made the whole trip without a single casualty.

The only near casualty came at an east African port of call. There the soldiers had their first shore leave, and one had arrived at the dock just as the ship was pulling away.

He thumbed a ride in a launch. He nearly caught the ship several times, and finally boarded it far down the bay after the speedy vessel came to a halt.

He was a sergeant then, but he is a buck private now.

One mystery baffled the soldiers on the whole trip. They were told that all the food aboard had been purchased in the United States, but they found everything bore south African stamps and labels.

"I guess our biggest complaint was that we had mutton day after day," one man said.

In tents in which yarns about the trip are being spun, are men from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana and Washington State.

All were surprised by the Egyptian climate. They had expected to be blistered by heat, but they remarked that the weather was not so tough as at the Louisiana training field where most of them had been stationed.

In spare time there are sports contests with members of the R. A. F. and Greek and Polish troops stationed in the vicinity. The Americans taught the British and the rules of baseball, and they put on exhibition soft ball games which made a big hit.

A nearby airfield was shown the newest type of medium bomber flown here. This field is an all-American show from start to finish, and planes jumping off from here have already damaged Tobruk, Matruh and El Daba.

Aged Woman Injured As Machines Collide

Mrs. Helen Henry, 70, of Port Ewen, was injured and suffered shock, according to the local police, when the car in which she was riding, operated by Benjamin J. Henry, of Port Ewen and a truck driven by Herbert Farber, 46 Chambers street, collided at about noon at Wurts and Pierpont streets.

According to the police report the Farber truck was headed up Wurts street and about to turn left into Pierpont street and the Henry car was proceeding up the hill behind the truck when the two came together. Mrs. Henry was taken to the office of Dr. G. W. Ross of Port Ewen for treatment of a laceration behind her right ear and for shock.

Action Is Deferred

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—House action on the amended service men's vote bill was deferred today until Monday. By that time, Chairman Sabath (D.-Ill.) of the rules committee, said, he hopes to obtain an agreement to send the controversial legislation to a conference committee for adjusting senate and house differences.

Allies Step Up Their Air Activities

Break in Two-Month Lull Is Expected in Short Time; Allies Are Prepared

Forays Are Made

Maori Troops Surprise Axis Positions, Take Prisoners

Cairo, Aug. 27 (AP)—Allied airmen already have begun peeling off the thin veneer of calm on the western desert, too crucial a battlefield to stay quiet long, and rested, reinforced armies on both sides of the Alamein line are ready to lock in what may be a supreme battle of the war.

The two-month lull may erupt into another major struggle when the brightness of a full desert moon begins to wane tonight or the break may come tomorrow or later.

But whenever it comes, the British are sure of three things—it won't be long, they and their American allies are ready and Prime Minister Churchill has promised them every aid possible to put up a fight as tough for England's own soil.

One portent of a developing new battle on which may hinge mastery of the Mediterranean and Hitler's hopes of closing a giant nutcracker on the Middle East through Egypt and across the Caucasus was the growing scale of Allied air activity.

United States Army airmen have participated in attacks ranging from Tobruk and other German-occupied desert posts to shipping in Suda Bay, Crete, and the Corinth Canal in Greece in the past 48 hours.

In virtually all the raids the Americans worked in cooperation with the R. A. F. and were reported to have caused considerable damage.

The Crete and Greece raids were directed mainly on shipping. The extent of the damage there was unknown.

American fliers now are participating nightly in nearly all raids over the entire Middle East battle zone.

Long-range R. A. F. fighters raked enemy transport columns west of El Alamein Tuesday, killing or disabling hundreds of Axis troops and destroying 20 vehicles headed toward the front lines loaded with soldiers.

In a ground attack later that night, New Zealand forces composed mainly of Maoris raided Axis positions around the El Mirir section in the center of the desert front, taking prisoners.

The attack was said to have caught Italian troops by surprise and caused them heavy casualties. Military officials said, however, that the operation was regarded only as a local action, not the opening of a big-scale attack.

An R. A. F. spokesman said R. A. F. and United States bombers raided Suda Bay, Crete, and the Corinth Canal in southern Greece before dawn last Tuesday, but described the operation as on a small scale. He said some damage was caused, but its extent had not been determined fully.

Tax Rebate Similar to Canada's Is Considered By Senate Finance Committee; Saving Is Enforced

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—A post-war rebate patterned after Canada's allowance of a maximum credit of $800 yearly for single persons and $1,000 for married couples was studied today by the Senate finance committee.

The rebate system was outlined by Bryant C. Brown of the joint committee on internal revenue in a lengthy analysis of Canadian taxation submitted by Colin F. Stam, chief of the joint committee staff.

Explaining that the rebates in Canada constitute a form of enforced saving, Brown said that single persons there may establish a credit of eight per cent of their income or $300, whichever is the lesser, and married persons 10 per cent of their income, with $1,000 as the maximum. An additional 1 per cent, with a $100 maximum, would be allowed for each dependent.

Brown reported that the total tax payable might be reduced by certain debt and other payments, the deductions being applied to reduce the amount of post-war refund which the taxpayer would receive.

Deductions allowable under this provision, he said, included payments for pension retirement funds, life insurance premiums and mortgages.

"The part of the tax liability which becomes a post-war refund constitutes a form of enforced savings rather than a tax," Brown said. "It is proposed by this method to increase the revenue needed and preserve the incentive for

Nelson Withdraws Procurement From U.S. Armed Services

Action Is Expected to Plug Loophole in Effort to Balance Supplies Against Demands

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board was reported today to have notified the armed services he is withdrawing from their hundreds of procurement offices over the country the power to grant priority ratings.

This first major result of Nelson's newly-enacted "get tough" policy in dealing with the materials shortage is expected to be announced formally within 24 hours, it was disclosed by a W. P. B. official who requested his name be withheld.

The action will give W. P. B. sole control over the issuance of priority ratings, plugging a major loophole in the effort to balance short supplies against demands for the necessary materials by the army and navy and essential civilian users.

Nelson's decision was conveyed to the armed services in letters to Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, and Ferdinand Eberstadt, chairman of the army-navy munitions board, it was said.

Nelson has been in frequent consultation with the three for several days, working out details of the order, expected to be issued shortly over the signature of Amory Houghton, W. P. B. director general for operations.

At present, all army and navy procurement officers and inspectors who have authority to sign contracts also have power to assign automatic priority ratings for the necessary materials, even down to ten pounds of nails.

Hereafter the inspectors and procurement officers, upon concluding a contract, will have to apply to an authorized W.P.B. official, who will issue the priority rating.

W.P.B. therefore will have a constant check on the outflow of materials. The free hand enjoyed by the armed services heretofore has contributed, according to com-

Trooper Baker Arrests Violator Of New Paltz Alert

Fred Guttman, 43, Fined $25 by Justice I. C. Barnes Under War Emergency Act

An alien with first papers who refused to keep his lights dimmed during a blackout in New Paltz last night was arrested by Corporal Norman Baker of the state police for violation of the war emergency act.

The man is Fred Guttman, 43, who resides near the county home outside of New Paltz. He was born in Hamburg, Germany, but he told the authorities he is Austrian.

Corporal Baker explained that inasmuch as prior complaints had been made against Guttman, he took it upon himself to see just what was the matter last night.

He said he went to the house at about 10 o'clock last night and learned that Guttman had refused to comply with the orders of Fred York, air raid warden.

Guttman had put out his lights at first, said the officer, when York had ordered him to, but he turned them on as soon as he thought the warden was out of sight. Ted Curtis, an auxiliary policeman accompanied Corporal Baker when the latter made the arrest.

Guttman was arraigned before Peace Justice I. C. Barnes, who fined him $25.

Two Divisions Outlined

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The army will organize two new infantry divisions in October, one of them composed of negro troops. The 84th Division, of white troops, will be formed at Camp Howze, Tex., under the command of Brigadier General John H. Hildring, former assistant chief of staff for personnel, Secretary of War Stimson said today. Brigadier General Edward M. Almond will command the negro 92nd Division, to be formed at Fort McClellan, Ala. This will be the army's second division of negro troops, with both white and negro officers.

Tokyo Admits Loss Of Destroyer

Tokyo (from Japanese broadcasts), Aug. 27 (AP)—Japan has lost one destroyer sunk and a small aircraft carrier damaged in the renewed battle of the Solomon Islands, imperial headquarters announced today.

(An Italian broadcast in the French language, the same in every other detail as Tokyo's, mentioned damage to several small Japanese aircraft carriers. A Berlin broadcast was first understood to have said one of the Japanese carriers was sunk but this was erroneous.)

It said the United States losses, all inflicted by air attack, were:

Land Forces Meet Enemy Upon Beach

Airmen Pound Vessels at New Guinea When Landing Is Attempted by Troops

Ceiling Is Low

Rain Hampers Allied Airmen, but Fight Is Carried Out

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 27 (AP)—Japanese forces, defying fierce Allied air attacks and a tropical deluge, landed yesterday at Milne Bay, on the southeast tip of New Guinea, but an Allied spokesman said that the landing had been anticipated and that the enemy had been engaged immediately by Allied ground forces.

The bay, about 10 miles wide at its mouth and 20 miles long, is at the tip of Papua some 225 miles from Allied-held Port Moresby—apparently Japan's first aim—and about 420 miles from the closest point on the Australian mainland.

The coast there is flat, fringed with mangrove swamps and cut by several creeks abounding with crocodiles.

Besides pounding the ships and landing barges which ferried the invaders ashore, Allied fliers in four-engined Flying Fortress, single-engined Curtiss Kittyhawk fighters and Marauders, caused the Japanese heavy losses of fuel.

Some of the drums, which the Japanese tried to conceal below water, were struck from low level and the fires spread over a wide area.

The Allied planes met no fighter opposition but were hampered by thick clouds which cut the ceiling to 1,000 feet and a downpour which cut visibility almost to zero.

Unofficial reports said the fighter pilots had particular success strafing enemy troops and shore positions and machine gunning enemy-filled launches and barges while the bombers centered on supply dumps ashore.

One Kittyhawk pilot, asked if he was needed, flashed back the reply: "We're having great time strafing Japs on beach and doing nicely." The landing forces apparently were left to fend for themselves without air support.

His statement was taken here as an indication that the Japanese would find the going harder at Milne Bay than at Buna, Salamaua and Lae—the bases in northeastern New Guinea which they seized earlier with only slight opposition.

It appeared that the Japanese had taken advantage of adverse weather to move down the east coast of New Guinea and slip into Milne Bay, partially protected from Allied air attack by low clouds.

Allied airmen who attacked the convoy the day before yesterday while it was moving southward through the Trobriand Islands, 100 miles north of Milne Bay, said that dense clouds and mists as low as 300 feet above the water made location of the ships difficult.

In some cases, the pilots said, they found themselves over the ships almost before they could be seen.

However, they reported they had scored a direct hit amidships on one transport as the Japanese were carrying out their landing operations yesterday and that it had sunk immediately. Six enemy barges were reportedly destroyed, a cruiser was listed as "probably" sunk and a destroyer as damaged.

While the action was going on in this theatre Japanese planes attacked Broome on the Australian west coast, dropping a few bombs which Allied headquarters said caused little damage and no casualties.

100 Aliens Seized In Jersey Raids

F.B.I. and Police Conduct Sweeping Tour in 9 Northern Counties

Newark, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—Approximately 100 aliens were arrested by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and local police in sweeping raids which started at 6:30 a. m., today in nine northern New Jersey counties, E. E. Conroy, assistant director of the F. B. I., announced.

The raids, with more than 200 police officers participating, were directed against members of the Nazi party in this country, aliens who had stated they would not fight for the United States and wanted to return to Germany, and members and supporters of the defunct German-American Bund, Conroy said.

Also arrested were purchasers of Ruckwunder marks—known as "return-to-Germany marks"—by which buyers accumulated credits in Germany and had to go there to spend the marks, Conroy said.

The arrests were made on presidential warrants issued by the attorney general on recommendation of Assistant U. S. Attorney Thorne Lord after an extensive F. B. I. probe, Conroy said.

Among those arrested was a former commander of the now inactive German-American War Veterans of Hudson county who, Conroy said, possessed a medal presented to him in 1936 in the name of "der fuhrer."

Too Many Speeches; Meeting Adjourns

So many nominating speeches were made Tuesday evening at a meeting of the union workers in the Electrol, Inc., Aircraft Division plant, that there was not sufficient time to elect officers, and the meeting was adjourned.

The meeting, attended by approximately 300 workers, was held in the municipal auditorium. It was started at 5 o'clock. All of the men at the meeting had to report for the night shift at the plant for work at 7:30 o'clock and after a session of more than two hours the actual election of officers was held open until the adjourned meeting to be held later this month.

It is understood that all of the workers at the Electrol plant are members of the union.

YOUR FOOD—AND NUTRITION

One of the important food essentials which meat provides is iron. Iron is needed to carry oxygen to every part of the body to release energy from our foods. Liver is the richest source of iron, and it also contains copper which works with iron in building the hemoglobin of the blood. Liver can be served in the form of liver sausage as well as braised or broiled liver. All meat is a good source of iron, as well as of protein and other nutrients.

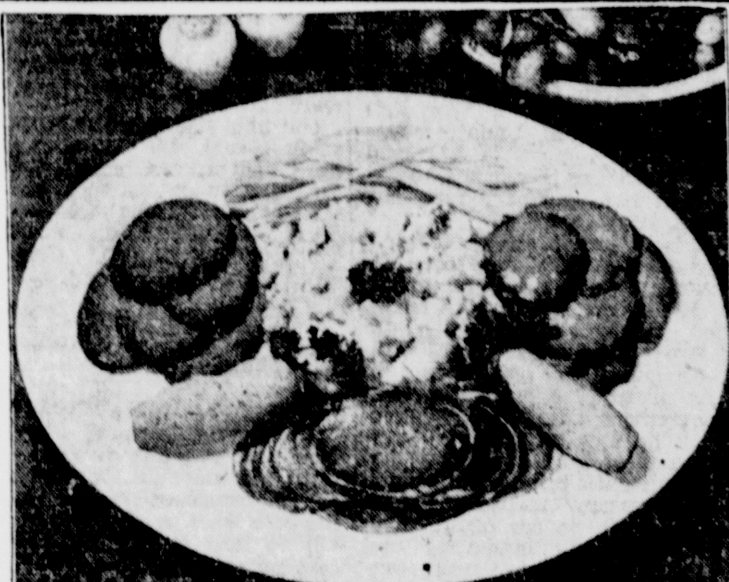

Ready-to-serve meats, sausage of various kinds, meat loaves and baked ham, are offered in a tempting array in most meat markets and they are a great boon to the homemaker to prepare a meal in a hurry.

These meats have other advantages besides the fact that they are convenient to serve. They are economical, too, for there is no waste. They are nutritious as well as appetizing and lend substance to quick, easily prepared meals.

Serve with Hot Dish

Your favorite sausage, bologna or salami or liver sausage, can be sliced and served with a hot dish, such as vegetable casserole, or with potato salad, or uncooked vegetable salad, for a quickly prepared family meal. Or you can use a selection of these meats

Tempting Cold Plate

An assortment of cold cuts and sausage, tastily arranged, served with potato salad and celery st. petite.

as the center of a company meal, arranging them in an attractive design. Light and dark meats can be alternated. Thin slices of sausage can be curled to form cornucopias. They offer you a chance to put your artistic ability to work.

Can Be Attractive

A platter of daintily arranged cold cuts and sausage makes a very attractive main dish as part of a buffet service.

Another way in which ready-to-serve meat cuts can be used by the thrifty homemaker is to supplement the remnants of a roast or meat loaf.

There are so many varieties of sausage and meat loaves that the homemaker should widen her acquaintance with them. Many kinds of sausage which were the specialties of foreign lands are now made successfully in the United States and can be used to add variety to American meals.

Use Liver Sausage

Liver sausage offers a good way to put that important meat, liver, into the diet. Liver should be served at least once a week, we are told, and it may appear as liver sausage occasionally, for variety. Ready-to-serve meats can be used in meat salads. Here is a way of using bologna.

Luncheon Salad

1 pound bologna
2 1/2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1 cup grated raw carrots
1/4 cup finely grated onion
1/4 cup diced pimento
1/2 cup cooked green peas
Salt and pepper
Mayonnaise
Salad greens

Dice bologna. Combine all ingredients except mayonnaise and greens. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, add mayonnaise and toss lightly. Serve on salad greens.

Panbroiled Liver Sausage

Although liver sausage is already cooked, you may wish to serve it hot. It can be quickly panbroiled.

Slice the liver sausage one-half inch thick. Remove casing. Brown on both sides, then reduce the heat. Turn the meat as often as necessary to insure thorough even heating.

33 White Persons Helped by Natives To Escape Japanese

Los Angeles, Aug. 27 (AP)—A meeting on a south Pacific island with 16 navy and army pilots and 17 other white persons who had been helped by friendly natives to escape from the Japanese was described by Lt. Harry Wood of Noble, Ill., a dive bomber pilot off the carrier Lexington.

With his radioman-gunner, Cyril Huvar of Corpus Christi, Tex., Lt. Wood said on an N. B. C. radio broadcast, he was forced down at sea near the New Guinea Islands when their plane ran short of fuel.

Helped ashore by natives, they were taken to an island where they found the other pilots who had also been forced down, together with the civilians, some of them Americans, whom the islanders had assisted in penetrating the Japanese lines.

Wood said he met several other persons on the ship that brought him to the United States recently who had found their way to civilization from Japanese-occupied territory. He himself was reported missing for a month before he reestablished contact with the navy.

Prayer Meeting

The regular mid-week prayer meeting of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Elsie Myers Pultz will be the leader.

BRINGING BACK BARRAGE BALLOON

This barrage balloon, which broke loose from its moorings at an undisclosed location in the Pacific Northwest, is shown being retrieved by a patrol boat for further use. It was not greatly damaged in its wild ride.

Clothing Specialist Gives Suggestions on Hose Care

Sheer hose that look like silk or nylon nowadays probably are made of rayon and they need different care than the hose with which women have been familiar in the past, according to Edna M. Callahan, clothing specialist, Ohio State university.

Miss Callahan advises women to learn the best methods of caring for rayon hose because they will be the ones most suitable for dress occasions in the near future. The supply of silk for hose is practically gone and nylon is being used to supplement the fast diminishing stocks. Present cotton fibers do not produce the sheer hose women want for best.

The new rayon hose differ from rayon hose sold in the past in being less glossy, none are full fashioned although seamless hose are being sold, and the price is higher. The new rayon hose differ from cotton by being smoother, more attractive, more sheer, higher priced, and less serviceable.

Considerable care is necessary in laundering rayon hose to avoid damaging them. The hose can be snagged easily by rough finger nails or by rings which are not removed while the hose are being washed.

Miss Callahan advises the use of lukewarm water and just enough mild soap to make a lasting suds. Use the soap to clean, and then rinse until water remains clear after the rinsing.

Current Lettuce Crop

Near Twice Last Year's

The current lettuce crop is estimated at 8,000,000 crates, or one and one-half million crates more than at the corresponding time in 1941. The heaviest supplies are expected to be on the consumer market through and after May 25.

Nutritionists think so well of leafy green vegetables, the family to which lettuce belongs, that they recommend a serving of at least one green vegetable each day. Green lettuce is a good source of carotene, which the body can change into vitamin A. It contains also some vitamin B-1, riboflavin, and vitamin C, and is a good source of iron and calcium. In general, the thinner and greener the leaf, the better source of iron and carotene lettuce is. Bleached lettuce contributes most of these same food values, but it rates considerably lower than does green lettuce as a source of the vitamins and minerals mentioned.

'Reminder' Notices

The city of Whittier, Calif., finds a "gentle reminder" to taxpayers about past-due accounts useful in keeping delinquencies down.

In May this year property owners who had not paid their taxes in full on the April 20 due date received notice reminding them of their "oversight" and pointing out that under a local ordinance unpaid items must be published June 1 in a newspaper with names of the property owners, who then would be liable for the 50-cent advertisement charge.

Nearly half—137—of the 263 items out of approximately 6,000 parcels on the tax roll April 20 were paid before the publication date, many delinquencies turning out to be results of oversight by new property owners who had not realized the taxes were unpaid.

Sterilizing by Sun

Diaper-washing can be made easier and more agreeable by putting the soiled diapers into a prepared covered pail until the daily washing period. Using a tablespoon of borax to each two quarts of cold water, fill the pail half full of this solution. Drop wet diapers into it, and add soiled diapers after flushing them with cold water. A sizable pail is needed for the baby's daily quota. Wash the diapers in the morning so that the strong sun can sterilize and bleach them. Transfer them from the borax solution into a tub of warm soapy water, rub until clean, and rinse three times. Fold smooth but do not iron. Twice a week the diapers should be boiled in a soap solution, rinsed thoroughly, and sun-dried.

Cracked Finish

A table top can be decorated very attractively through the use of a two-color cracked finish. Special crackle paints can be obtained or ordinary prepared enamels can be used. The bottom color of the combination is applied to the surface and allowed to dry but not to become too hard before the second color is put on. The bottom color should be a slow drying enamel and the top one a quick drying one. When the complete job dries, the top color being quicker drying and less elastic than the bottom one, checks and cracks, showing the bottom color in the background.

Fence Post Treatment

Fence posts treated with zinc chloride not only outlast untreated posts from three to ten times, protecting them from premature decay and termite attack, but seem to discourage woodpeckers as well. In recent experiments at Clemson College, S. C., several untreated posts showed considerable damage by woodpeckers, while treated posts did not.

Civilian Defense Units Are on Alert For Next Blackout

Civilian home defense units are on the alert in Kingston and Ulster county for the unannounced blackout to be held some time between today and September 2.

Chief of Police Charles Phinney of the Kingston police department made the request today that all automobiles on the streets at the time of the blackout pull up to the curb and stop and extinguish their lights, and that the occupants of the cars leave them and seek shelter nearby and remain under shelter until the blackout is over.

The police chief said that he also desired the cooperation of all parents in the city to have their children at home and off the streets during the dimout period.

Kingston residents, said Chief Phinney, have cooperated with the authorities in previous blackouts, and he trusted that they would give similar cooperation during the coming blackout.

Car Owner Protection Is Asked by Henderson

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today asked all companies writing automobile insurance to protest their policyholders participating in ride-sharing plans.

"Since participation by car owners is in the interest of the war effort," Henderson wrote the companies, "the office of Price Administration believes participating car owners should lose no part of the coverage afforded them by their automobile liability insurance (Bodily injury and property damage)."

Some companies, Henderson said, have construed liability policies written by them on private cars to be unaffected by bona fide participation in ride-sharing plans, even though they involved agreements to share expenses. He asked all companies to agree formally to this construction.

Henderson said some car owners had expressed concern as to whether pooling rides on an expense sharing basis might be a policy violation, because of provisions denying insurance coverage to vehicles when used for hire or as public conveyances.

Republican Strength Is Less, Democrat Thinks

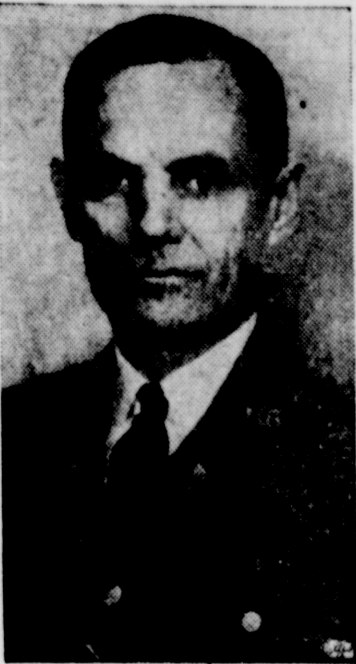

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—The strength of the Republican party, "led by isolationists, defeatists and the promoters of pre-mature peace propaganda," believes Erie county Democratic Chairman George B. Doyle, "is by no means what it was before Pearl Harbor."

"Millions of Republican voters are saying," Doyle asserted last night at a meeting of the county Democratic committee at which he was re-elected chairman, "thank God for Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the far-sighted Democratic administration." He predicted that many Republicans "will be aligned with us in the coming election."

Doyle, a backer of Senator James M. Mead in his abortive attempt to gain the Democratic nomination for governor, asked support of the party's nominee, Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.

Blessed is the man who can preserve his sanity and his sense of humor with hell breaking loose all around him. A barber in London, whose shop was practically demolished by bombs, put up this sign to advertise the fact that he still was in business: "I've just had a close shave. How about you?"

In our town is an insurance salesman who has been far from making a fortune these last years, while his girl has a nice job in an office and does very well. One night recently, while they were walking home, he seemed to have something on his mind:

He—Listen, Honey, I want to—er, that is—would you—would you marry me?

She (instantly)—Sure! For a minute there you had me worried—I thought you wanted to borrow money.

If a girl don't watch her figure the boys won't.

Down in Georgia a traveling man found himself stranded for the night and in his rambles around town noticed there were two Baptist Churches. He asked a colored man why there should be two churches of the same denomination:

Negro—Well, boss, Ah'll tell you. Dey just can't agree. One of de churches believes dat Pharaoh's daughter foudhd Moses in de bull-rushes. De other church claims dat's what she says!

The hawk had just been moved by the policeman, and was cross about it:

Hawker—Darn, who wouldn't be a policeman? Nothing to do but stand still doing nothing while he walks around listening for anything he can see.

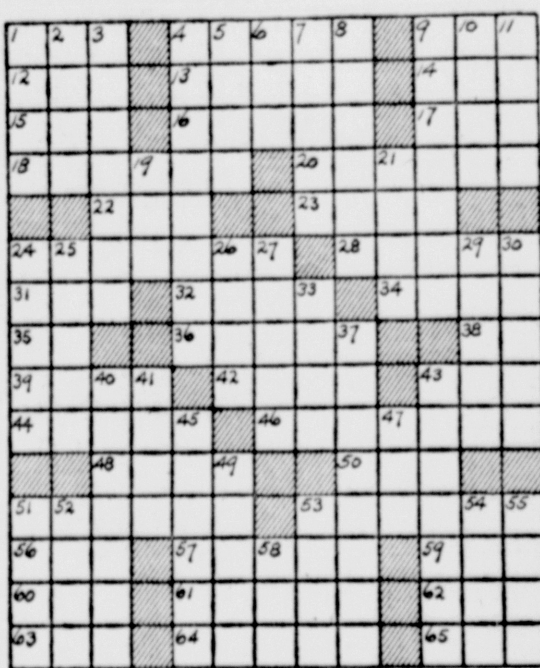

The movie actor who had been divorced four times proposed again.

Lumber and Telephones

Two of the Nation's Vital Needs

In the nation's drive for Victory there is an enormous demand for many types of lumber and other wood products—for the construction of barracks, ship yards, motor torpedo boats, gliders, bomb crates and thousands of other products. This demand has been met with astonishing speed by the entire lumber industry.

The job of converting trees to seasoned lumber and then delivering it fast to the points where needed, is stupendous. Lumbermen's use of long distance telephone service has shot up as rush orders came in and shipments were hurried on their way.

This use is one more reason why telephone traffic is now breaking all records, and why you are asked to cooperate in your use of this vital service.

Your Use of the Telephone in War Time

You can help us serve both you and the war effort if you will keep in mind these simple suggestions:

1. Don't make long distance telephone calls to important war-activity centers, particularly Washington and Chicago, unless your call is urgent—and directly connected with the war effort.
2. If you must make long distance calls, please do so during these least-busy hours—
Before 10 A.M. 12 Noon to 2 P.M.
5 P.M. to 7 P.M. After 9 P.M.
3. Call by number (station-to-station) whenever you can. And make your conversations brief.
4. If you have party-line service please remember that others may be waiting to make or receive a call. Help make your party-line a good neighbor line—let's be considerate of the other fellow.

Feed Millions With Our Waste

Nutrition Experts Start Drive to Teach Better Buying Habits.

WASHINGTON.—American housewives would be horrified if they were told their garbage pails are instruments of sabotage.

Yet this is in too many instances the truth, say government nutrition experts. They are intensifying a campaign to convince Americans that they waste much valuable food.

It has been established that food enough for 5,000,000 persons is consigned to garbage pails throughout the country every day.

This would be sufficient to feed the combined populations of Arizona, Colorado, Florida and Nebraska.

Actually, more edibles are thoughtlessly discarded by loyal Americans than could possibly be destroyed by enemy agents deliberately bent on that purpose.

To overcome this waste the new food requirements committee, headed by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, has charted a course for American families to follow in order best to further the war effort.

The program will not cause any civilian to go hungry, but it will revise the buying and culinary habits of many families.

Wise Purchasing.
The slogan of the committee is "Waste not—want not."

To carry out this principle, bulletins are directed at the housewives on the home front. They emphasize these points for co-operation in winning the war: (1) wise purchasing; (2) no hoarding; (3) sensible cooking and (4) no waste.

If this advice is followed generally, enormous supplies of staples, concentrates and packed meats can be released to our armed forces and those of our allies without denying the civil population any of the elements necessary for wholesome diet.

First, it is suggested that homemakers work out a family spending plan and never shop without their notes.

They should choose what is currently plentiful, fresh fruits and vegetables in season.

They should purchase large cuts of meats in preference to smaller cuts because they give better value and better flavor. They should shop around and compare prices.

They should make sure that the butcher puts in all the fat trimmings with a cut of meat. These can be used in cooking. Bones also should be included. They are excellent for soups.

Hoarding Unpatriotic.
As for the hoarding of food, the committee points out that it is both unpatriotic and unnecessary as there will be enough for all.

Further advice from the committee has to do with the preparation of foods. Much waste occurs when foods are being readied for cooking. There is too much when potatoes are peeled too thick, when outside leaves of lettuce or cabbage are thrown away, when grapefruit, lemons or oranges are only partly squeezed, when batter is not thoroughly scraped out of the mixing bowl, and when sour milk is not used for making cakes, biscuits or pancakes.

The fourth point stressed by Secretary Wickard's committee is highly important. It is the wise use of leftovers.

Stale bread can be employed in many ways.

Cooked cereals can be made into fritters or puddings and served with syrup or fruit sauce.

Many fats may be saved and utilized. Keep bacon fat and drippings for seasoning vegetables.

Leftover vegetables can be made to seem like something else again in scalloped dishes, in soups, stews and in salads.

Leftover meats can be made into soups, stews and in salads.

Leftover fruits and vegetables can be made into soups, stews and in salads.

Navy Has Commissioned 66,000 Since 1940; 55,668 Come From Reserves

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The navy has granted officer commissions to 66,906 men since enactment of the draft law on September 16, 1940, and 55,668 of these have been appointments from civilian life to the naval reserve.

During the same two-year period there were 30,632 officer promotions in the navy.

These statistics have just gone to Congress from the Navy Department in response to an inquiry from Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, who said today a number of members of Congress and civilians had sought the information from him.

He would not say why the inquiries were made.

The same information has been asked of the army, but it has not yet reported, although last week, responding to an amendment to the army-navy pay adjustment act sponsored by Rep. Faddis (D-Pa.), the War Department reported 18,967 civilians with no previous officer experience were granted army commissions during the 60 days beginning June 1. A similar report furnished by the navy has not been made public.

Faddis had contended that army commissions were being granted promiscuously and to undeserving persons. War Secretary Stimson called attention that 53 per cent of the 18,967 civilian commissions were to the medical corps and many others were to posts not requiring military training.

The McNary request brought the information from the navy that of the 55,668 commissions in the naval reserve since September 16, 1940, nearly all—49,379—were junior grade lieutenants and ensigns. A total of 4,878 were lieutenants and 1,411 lieutenant commanders.

Many Area Bus Operators Attend New York Session

New York, Aug. 26 (Special)—A number of bus operators of New York county were in New York today for a conference at Police Headquarters, called by the War Transportation Committee of the

New York State War Council. John F. Fitzgerald, supervisor of motor carriers, Public Service Commission, presided. The meeting was called to explain to the operators the federal and state war-time laws on conservation of gas and rubber as they affect such carriers.

Explaining the necessity for the curbs imposed on bus operators, Mr. Fitzgerald declared: "I don't envy you your problems. You are caught in a squeeze play between demands on your facilities on the one hand, far exceeding anything in past experience, and, on the other hand, a shortage of critical materials which challenges your ingenuity to 'keep 'em rolling.'"

He urged, however, strict compliance with the war-time regulations imposed.

Mellert Resigns as Head Of City's Control Center

William E. Mellert, Jr., who has been the chief in charge of Kingston's control center in the city hall, has filed his resignation with Mayor William F. Edelmuth. Pressure of other duties led to Mr. Mellert's resignation.

Mr. Mellert was recently elected commander of Kingston Post of the American Legion.

Mayor William F. Edelmuth said today that he had accepted Mr. Mellert's resignation as chief of the control room with regret. The mayor said that he had made no appointment as yet, and that the work was being carried on under his supervision by Allen A. Baker and Louis M. Siller, deputy chiefs of the control center.

Early Training Establishes Desirable Habits in Bulls

Ithaca, N. Y. — Are you afraid of bulls? Prof. Raymond Albrectson of the New York State College of Agriculture has the handling of a herd sire down to a science.

A bull can't talk intelligibly but he still has sense and feelings, according to Prof. Albrectson who gives the following advice about handling these masters of the cow family.

The bull is a creature of habit and early training can establish desirable traits. Teach a bull calf how to behave in public at an early age. A two-week-old bull calf is not too young to be taught good behavior. At six or eight months bull training is almost impossible. First teach the bull to lead at your side. Do not let him trail behind four or five feet. A bull with a running start has made many trainers the undignified part of an uplife movement. Do not let him get his head down or get in front of you.

Be firm, but not harsh. Make the lessons alike so that the bull won't need to remember too many things. Make leading a habit. At eight months old insert a light ring in the bull's nose. Let the nose heal before educating the bull to lead with the ring. Keep the halter on him in the early stages of ring training, then teach him to lead on a staff. Teach the bull to offer his ring by rewarding him with an apple, carrot or any tidbit he likes. When handling his ring do it firmly but avoid harsh handling unless the bull is very headstrong. Prof. Albrectson's final advice is that the best way to handle a mature bull is—very little.

Hitler's Campaign in Russia Might Be at Point of Waning

Prediction Is That Lewis Plans Union For All Farm Help

U. S. Unionization Looms as Possibility, President of Free Farmers Says in Address

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—A prediction that John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president and former C. I. O. chief, plans a union for all farm labor in the nation came today as absorption of a New York city milkshed producers' group by District 50 of the U. M. W. was formally ratified.

The dairy farmers union, organized in 1936 and once claiming about 23,000 members in New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont, was voted out of existence "as soon as practical" last night by 150 delegates to its annual fall convention. Holland R. Foster of Oswego is chairman.

The D. F. U.'s general organization committee in February voted to affiliate with the United Dairy Farmers, a District 50 unit, and the convention's action merely completed details of the transition.

D. F. U. officials said today a majority of their members already have transferred to the U. D. F.

Meanwhile, Herbert W. Voorhies of Hopewell, N. J., president of Free Farmers, Inc., said in a speech at New York last night that Lewis will launch within a few weeks, possibly within 30 days, a gigantic organization drive among farm workers in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Washington and New York Free Farmers, Inc., is opposing Lewis' invasion of the dairy industry.

Voorhies addressed a dinner in connection with the Northeast Poultry producers Council convention.

Workers Will Return To Gasoline Refineries

East Chicago, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP)—Striking workers agreed to return to work today at three oil refineries and a loading terminal in the Calumet district after they were told by a federal labor conciliator that the government considered the stoppage of high octane gasoline production "a very critical threat" to the war effort.

The conciliator, William G. Murray, said the men agreed to return at midnight "without any qualification" pending resumption of negotiations. Management at the four plants agreed to meet with union representatives at 2 p. m. tomorrow to discuss the 2,350 employees' demand for higher wages.

The strike, called Tuesday by the C.I.O. Oil Workers Union Local 210, closed the refineries of the Sinclair Oil Company, the Socony-Vacuum Refining Corporation and the Cities Service Oil Company and the Shell Oil Company's loading terminal.

Venezuela will permit love letters to go through the mails at half rate provided they are sent in bright red envelopes.

A. P. Bureau Chiefs Return

Dutch Ships Resume Their Sailings Again

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Sailing "as usual" began today for Dutch ships that had been tied up since August 18 in American ports by a labor dispute.

The International Transport Workers' Federation announced yesterday that an agreement on working conditions and post-war security for Dutch officers and seamen had been reached in London with the Netherlands government in exile and that the mariners had accepted temporary concessions pending final negotiations on their demands.

'WAVES' Are Due To Begin Training

Vanguard of Feminine Naval Detachment Is Awaited at Smith

Northampton, Mass., Aug. 27 (AP)—The vanguard of the WAVES—Uncle Sam's sailorettes—is expected to arrive here tonight for officer training at Smith College, and one of the first rules the recruits will meet is "early to bed and early to rise."

"Lights out" will sound at 10 p. m. and reveille at 6:15 a. m. Week-ends will be from Saturday noon until dinner on Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

By tomorrow night, 300 "WAVES" are scheduled to be "on deck" and classes are scheduled to start Monday. Approximately 600 other officer candidates are due in October.

The "WAVES" will arrive here in civilian dress, but once they get their uniforms, within a few days, they must wear them regularly.

Upon completion of a four-month indoctrination course, the successful candidates will be ready for shore jobs—all within continental United States—to relieve naval men for active duty.

Captain Herbert W. Underwood, commander of the officers' training school, said they would not be used to replace civil service employees.

Walkill Central School Will Dedicate Building

The dedication of the Plattkill building of the Walkill Central School District No. 1 will be held at Plattkill on Friday evening, September 4, at 8 o'clock.

The main speaker of the evening will be B. H. Balknap, director of rural education of the State Education Department, Albany, N. Y. His subject will be "American Ideals and World Realities."

C. E. Terwilliger, president of the Board of Education, is in charge of the program.

More than 50,000 babies have been born in the emergency homes for mothers established under Britain's evacuation program.

Whitney Says He Will Ask Public Hearing on Charge

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Denying that gambling was allowed to flourish under his regime, Raymond J. Whitney, suspended city manager, says he will demand a public hearing on ouster charges which the Yonkers Common Council said Tuesday night it would prefer.

Whitney termed as "flimsy and capricious" the council's accusation that he had failed to suppress gambling and said yesterday it never would stand the test of judicial review.

The council in a resolution had charged, among other things, that it was Whitney's alleged laxity in enforcing anti-gambling laws that resulted in a request by Governor Lehman to "clean up" Yonkers.

In a resolution passed by a vote of 3 to 1, the council voted to suspend Whitney from his $10,500-a-year post for 30 days preparatory to its filing of formal removal charges. Norman P. Henderson, city engineer, meanwhile is acting as city manager.

Whitney, former city manager of Royal Oak, Mich., and of Mamaroneck, N. Y., asserted that there was no organized gambling in Yonkers and that under his administration the police had dispersed as many small gamblers and bookmakers as could be found.

Plant Is Above Quota Melrose Factory, General Motors, Is Ready to Accept Additional Orders

By AMY PORTER

Chicago, Aug. 27 (AP)—If the airplane production program is held up for lack of engines, it won't be the fault of the Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corporation.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of Buick and a director of General Motors, announced today that the Melrose Park plant was well above its quota in production and was ready to undertake more work when ever the government saw fit to allocate more materials.

The Melrose Park plant makes Pratt & Whitney 1,200 horsepower aircraft engines for the four-engine B-24 bombers made by Consolidated, Douglas, Lockheed and Ford.

D. E. Williams, operating manager, selected a site for the plant in January, 1941, broke ground on March 17 and on January 7, 1942, delivered the first engine to the Army Air Force.

"We live a kind of hand to mouth existence, it's true, but so far we haven't been seriously delayed by shortages," Williams told reporters on the National Association of Manufacturers tour of war plants.

"We know resources ourselves," he continued, "so we don't wait for the government to allocate supplies. We spot the supplies, perhaps in some out of the way place, and then ask the government if it's all right for us to take them."

"Often we fly supplies to the plant in the morning, use them, and ship the finished product out in the afternoon."

The company announces it has improved on production schedules for several reasons. They ran out of seamless tubing, for instance. They substituted welded tubes, of the kind they had used in cars; tested, got governmental approval, and put on full steam ahead.

They found that, with standard packing cases for their precious engines, only eight could be shipped in a box car. By re-designing the cases, they managed to ship 18 engines in a car, effecting a 100 per cent increase in the use of vital transportation.

Now they have a new trick up their sleeves, nothing to do with engines, this time, but with shells. With other industrialists, they have developed steel cartridge cases in the larger calibers, to replace cases made of brass, a rare metal at the moment.

Russian Attacks Might Turn Tide Against Germany

Red Counter-Drives Are Aimed at Preventing Nazi Consolidation of Gains

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

Disclosure of the heavy—and thus far very successful—new Russian offensive in the important sector northwest of Moscow, and a forecast by the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star that the Bolsheviks will halt the Nazis on the Caucasian mountain line, are an invitation to examine the possibility that the Hitlerite tide may have about reached high water and may be ready to ebb.

One approaches this idea with the utmost caution, because of the obvious dangers of the Russian position in face of the terrific striking-power being exhibited by the Germans. Still, as I have indicated previously, this is the time at which many military experts have thought the Moscow offensive might be able to stem the Hitlerite flood, namely, when the battle lines backed up against the towering Caucasian mountains.

Of one thing we are certain—the battle of the Caucasus is still anybody's fight. Despite the Nazi gains over the bodies of Hitler's wholesale human sacrifice, the fuhrer is by no means the certain winner. On that basis, and having dissociated ourselves from wishful thinking, let's examine the situation.

The Red offensive in the Rzhhev sector northwest of Moscow has been under way 15 days already. The Reds claim an advance of 25 to 30 miles, the capture of upwards of 600 communities and the slaughter of 45,000 Germans. This has been undertaken for two reasons:

To compel the Nazis to withdraw strength from the Stalingrad front and thus ease the fierce pressure on the strategic city, and to eliminate a German salient and thus strengthen the defenses of Moscow.

Point About Moscow

The point about the Moscow defenses is this: If Hitler should be successful in capturing Stalingrad and crushing the Bolshevik resistance farther south, he likely would make another supreme effort to capture Moscow before winter shuts in. His idea would be to make his position impregnable as far down as the Caucasus range so that even if he didn't succeed in forcing the mountains he would be able to hold his lines and wait for the winter while devoting his energy to other pursuits—quite likely development of the Egyptian campaign.

As to the fighting in the Caucasus, Red Star says the battles there have entered a new phase now that the enemy has reached the mountain barrier. The sweeping plains over which Hitler's tanks have been racing are giving way to mountainous terrain where these steel monsters operate with difficulty or not at all. Also, inside the mountain range it is virtually impossible for airplanes to operate.

The Germans have been depending heavily on their tanks and warplanes, and a vast weakening of these two fighting arms may indeed be the pivot point. However, the Nazis have demonstrated that they are no mean mountain fighters, and only time will determine the issue.

I should say that a great deal depends on the outcome of the siege of Stalingrad. That is a tough nut to crack and the Nazis are concentrating all available forces for the assault. The Bolsheviks are expected to put up a fierce resistance, but it mustn't be overlooked that they are handicapped by the fact that this great industrial city is on the west bank of the Volga river. That means they must fight with their backs to the river instead of having its broad reaches in front of them for protection—a position which any defending commander would avoid if possible.

Should Stalingrad fall quickly, it would release many Nazi troops for the fighting farther south. Naturally that might alter the whole show, but since that point is reached by hurdling a lot of "ifs," speculation isn't very profitable.

While all this is going on in the Russian theatre, we mustn't relax our watch on Egypt. A great and crucial battle is likely to erupt there at any moment between the Allies and Nazi Marshal Rommel's forces, which represent one claw of the pincers that Hitler is trying to clamp on the whole Middle East.

Convoy System Has Results

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—The convoy system for United Nations merchantmen bore financial fruit today as American marine insurance underwriters cut by 5 per cent cargo war-risk rates charged on certain voyages. It was first important reduction in many months since the upward trend that followed the intensified submarine campaign off the U. S. east coast.

Kenneth Roberts' Story of the Original Rangers

(Not until the big Allied raid on Dieppe did many Americans know a new unit was building in the AEF—the Rangers. Like the British commandos, they are trained to strike swiftly, silently, efficiently, but they take their name from a much earlier band of American fighting men. In the following story, Kenneth Roberts, author of "Northwest Passage" and other historical novels, tells how Rogers' Rangers were created, and how they fought against the French and Indians before the Revolutionary War.)

By KENNETH ROBERTS
Copyright, 1942, By Wide World Features

Kennebunkport, Me.—Robert Rogers, a hard drinking, hard fighting, hell raising, indefatigable, indestructible woodsman and hunter who was born and brought up near Concord, N. H., formed his first company of Rangers in 1775 to fight off the French and their Indian allies' attempt to become masters of North America.

To fight these enemies on their own terms meant to drift like an owl through the forest, to take cover on mountain slopes, on the shores of lakes and streams, in ditches and in open fields, to steal up on enemy outposts under cover of darkness, to snipe away sentries, to ambush supply trains, to burn enemy boats, forts, store houses, towns, to kill every Frenchman and Indian who couldn't be used as a source of information—kill him with a bullet in his heart, a hatchet through his skull, a strip of Kenneth Roberts rawhide around his neck, a knife in his back, the butt of a musket behind his ear, a knee in his groin, or by ten calloused fingers around his throat.

Only Rogers Did It

In the ensuing six years, expensive and elaborately equipped British and Colonial armies fought under British generals on Lake Champlain and in Canada, straining and struggling to break the determined attempts of the French and the Indians to overrun New England and the fabulous, little known empire partly glimpsed by those who had explored the valleys of the Ohio and the Mississippi.

Some of those British generals were able; some were stupid and shortsighted, but not one of them knew how to train fighters who could meet the French and Indians on their own terms. Only Robert Rogers seemed able to do so.

Thus Rogers' Rangers grew from one company in 1755 to eight companies before the war was over in 1766; and those eight companies of Rogers were the eyes, the ears, the flashing spearheads and the avenging furies of the armies that eventually drove the French from North America.

Journal Tells Story

Rogers kept a journal of his raids and fights, and those journals were published in England in 1765. On the yellowed pages of that ancient book are set down the bare bones of an unbeatable sort of war that struck the English as being new and startling, but that in reality was old as the hills, and will always be as good and as unbeatable as it ever was. Rogers wrote the rules for the Rangers—28 of them.

To name a few, they were to be constantly and fully equipped with rifle, ammunition and food, and ready to march at a minute's warning.

VINTAGE 1755—Nothing was to tough for the Rogers' Rangers to overcome. This scene from the historical film "Northwest Passage" shows how they looked. Like modern soldiers they knew the value of camouflage, wore blending uniforms of green.

They were to march in single files with flankers, so that in case of attack the fewest possible numbers would be hit.

Prisoners were to be kept separate till examined.

When attacked, all Rangers were to lie down, to keep behind trees and rocks, or in holes in the ground, and to return the enemy's fire in sections, so that the whole detachment would never be defenseless at any given moment.

If hopelessly surrounded, the detachment was to scatter and reassemble later at a predetermined point.

Sentries were so stationed that night-changing was unnecessary—"profound secrecy and silence being of the greatest importance."

VINTAGE 1942—And still nothing is to tough. This photo shows U. S. troops in Northern Ireland getting the training that enables the modern Rangers to raid Axis territories with the toughness and stealth of their forebears.

cape observation. "Such," wrote Rogers, "are the rules to be observed in the ranging service. There are, however, a thousand occurrences that might make it necessary to depart from them, and to put other arts and stratagems in practice, in which cases every man's reason and judgment must be his guide; and to do this properly, he must preserve firmness and presence of mind on every occasion."

Men Hand-Picked

So Rogers "enlisted none as Rangers but such as were used to traveling and hunting, and in whose courage and fidelity I could confide." In the misty dark of early evening he packed his men into whaleboats and set off silently for an objective 20 miles, 40 surrender of the detachment.

"They used," Rogers wrote, "many arts and stratagems to induce us to submit, sometimes threatening us with severity if we refused, assuring us that they every moment expected a large reinforcement, which would cut us to pieces without mercy; at other times flattery and cajoling us, declaring it was a pity so many brave men should be lost; that we should, upon our surrender, be treated with the greatest compassion and kindness; calling me by name, they gave me the strongest assurances of their esteem; but no one being dismayed by menaces, or flattered by fair promises, we determined to keep our ground as long as there were two left to stand by each other."

In the night Rogers picked up his wounded and fought his way to safety. Twenty of his 74 men were killed, but he killed 111 French and Indians.

At 7 To 1 Odds

Rogers' Rangers fought the battle on snowshoes against enemy forces outnumbering them seven to one. On March 6th, 1759, when the thermometer below zero and four feet of snow on the ground, he and over 100 Rangers marched 50 miles in one day to destroy enemy work parties, fought three skirmishes, accomplished their objective, and returned to camp with a loss of only three men—though many froze their feet. Later that same year he and two hundred of his Rangers made the great Ranger raid that wiped out the Indian town of St. Francis—a march of some 400 miles through the trackless swamps of Canada with no provisions except the bag of meal that every Ranger carried tied to his belt.

There was something elemental about Rogers and his Rangers—something unkillable and unbeatable, as there will always be about men who refuse, as did Rogers' men, "to be dismayed by menaces or flattered by fair promises, and are determined to keep their ground as long as there are two left to stand by each other."

V-Mail Service Is Now Available

Postoffice Department Is Ready to Use Plan

The Post Office Department announced today that the V-Mail Service, inaugurated on June 15, 1942, is now past the experiment stage, with each week showing large increases in the number of letters mailed to American soldiers overseas.

The War Department has increased its facilities to handle promptly the volume in the future.

Facilities for photographing and reproducing V-Mail to and from the United States and the British Isles, Australia, India, Hawaii and other points are now in operation. A similar service is being planned for Iceland and other points where the volume may warrant.

Pointing out that V-Mail provides a safe means of communication with members of our armed forces, the Post Office Department gave assurance that the film (upon which the communications are reproduced) are given the most expeditious dispatch available. Because of the small space taken up by the rolls of film, they often can be carried on ferry planes or bombers.

Every pound of weight which can be saved on air transports overseas, said the department, means that an equivalent amount of weight can be allotted vital military material.

In recognition of this, and in an effort to insure delivery of mail to as many men as possible at overseas destinations when space is limited, the War and Navy Departments have directed that V-Mail be given priority in dispatch over all other classes—including air mail—when transportation facilities under control of those departments are used.

V-Mail letter sheets have been distributed at all post offices; and have been provided all military and naval personnel at overseas points through army and navy post offices and military channels.

Private firms and individuals have also been permitted by the Post Office Department to reproduce the letter sheets. The sheets also will be available soon to all stores selling stationery.

V-Mail Service provides for the use by patrons of a special letter sheet form which is a combination letter and envelope of uniform size and design. The patron writes his message, completes the name and address of the addressee and the return card in the space provided, folds, seals, and mails the letter in the usual manner. Patrons are warned that only the inner or letter side of V-Mail letters are photographed, and should be careful to show the complete address of the person to whom the message is sent in the panel provided therefor above the space for the message. It is preferable to print the address in large block letters. Enclosures must not be placed in the letters.

Penney's Sell $8,422,553 In War Bonds and Stamps

The J. C. Penney Co. is proud of a telegram from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, complimenting them on having sold war stamps and bonds during July to the staggering amount of $8,422,553.85, which was almost 25 per cent of the company's total merchandise sales. The 1,609 stores had been given a quota of $1,200,000, so that sales were about seven times the quota. Top sale was a $100,000 war bond by a 68 year old salesman in the Cortland store.

Total for all the Penney stores in July will pay for one destroyer, one submarine, 100 army fighter planes and 36 light tanks.

In the Kingston store Manager Byron S. Chatham reports sales of $801 worth of stamps and bonds.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Dangerous
Bloomfield, Ind. — Redheads, beware: You'd better keep out of the woods during the squirrel-hunting season.

Auburn-haired Mrs. Dexter Days, 19, is in a hospital recovering from bullet wounds—53 pellets entered her body from face to ankles—suffered when an unidentified hunter spied her through trees and mistook her for a squirrel.

Can't Stop the Marines
Little Rock, Ark. — The Marines have the situation well in hand on the recruiting front too. They enlisted Irving Paul Adams and Shannon Lowell Doss after the two had worked six months as civilian clerks in the army's recruiting office here.

Ceiling Zero
Hartford, Conn. — A Norwalk grocer who wanted to know something about maximum price regulations addressed a letter to "Mr. Chester Hartford, care of the O. P. A. Ceiling, Hartford."

Bull Market
Seattle — The police tried to have an auction, but it was too successful. "How much am I—" began Sgt. Harvey O'Brien, holding up one of seven unclaimed tires. He never finished his question. In a few seconds the bid was up to $6. "Wait a minute," begged the sergeant. "I bid $7," yelled a woman. "Wait, there's a ceiling. I can't accept more than $4.45."

"To hell with the ceiling," a woman shouted. "I bid $7.10." Police called the whole thing off and gave the tires to the rationing board.

He-man's Literary Circle
San Diego, Calif. — Servicemen at ease in the U. S. O. Recreation center were afraid they'd be called sissies. They refused to read women's magazines. "We outwit them," confides Mrs. B. F. Raynes, U. S. O. secretary. "We cut up the women's magazines, paste the articles in scrap books and the boys—all unknowing—read them avidly."

Poor Fido
Chicago — Fido really is in for a dog's life for the duration of the war. With canned dog foods soon becoming a thing of the past, Dr. M. L. Morris, of the American Veterinary Medical Association, asserted "dogs will have to be humored at first until they acquire a taste for the new dry foods. Owners will have to pour gravy and soups and meat juices over the dog food to add appetite appeal."

In England, he said, even the proverbial bone has been taken from dogs to be used for munitions making.

Meat broth, popular as an appetizer at the beginning of a meal, has additional food value if noodles, rice, or vegetables are added.

Rogers Enlists
Elliott Rogers, for several years past deputy clerk of the board of supervisors, leaves for New York Friday morning, where he will report at the Navy recruiting office, 67 Broad street, and will be sent directly to a receiving ship for active service. Elliott, who saw 22 months service in the Navy on convoy duty in the first World War, again enlisted last week, signing up for foreign duty.

Senate Committee Approves 5 Per Cent Withholding Tax

Brownell Named Campaign Leader

Former Assemblyman Will Handle Dewey and Other G.O.P. Nominees

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, announced today that former Assemblyman Herbert Brownell, Jr., of New York city would manage his campaign as well as the campaign for the entire Republican state ticket.

"This method should provide unanimity and coordination," Dewey stated at a press conference, in calling attention to the unusual procedure of appointing one man to manage the campaign of an entire ticket.

His decision to name Brownell manager of the ticket was the result of conferences with candidates nominated at Saratoga, Dewey said. He added that each candidate would have a manager working under the direction of Brownell.

In speaking of his friendship for Brownell, Dewey said: "I think it is only fair to say that he was one of the ablest legislators New York city ever sent to Albany. He served in the Assembly for five years from 1933 to 1937 inclusive, and is one of the oldest friends I have in New York."

Brownell served as counsel for the New York World's Fair, and as campaign manager for Borough President Edgar J. Nathan, Jr., of Manhattan.

The new Dewey headquarters are in the same building as headquarters of the Republican state committee, and Dewey said this would simplify the liaison between Brownell and the other candidates.

Brownell, who was present, was asked what he thought of Democratic State Chairman James A. Farley's prediction that Dewey would poll less than a 250,000 vote lead upstate.

"I don't think there is anybody in New York state so naive as to believe that Mr. Farley can predict in August what the election returns will show in November," Brownell replied.

When one reporter said it was reported that Dean Alfange, the American Labor Party's candidate for governor, was a "stalking horse" for Jim Farley, Brownell said:

"As I understand it, Mr. Alfange has said that he would stay in there and wage a vigorous campaign, and I think we must take Mr. Alfange at his word."

Wages and Dividends Levy Is Not Taken From Pending Revenue Measure

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Senate finance committee today underscored its approval of a 5 per cent withholding tax on wages and dividends by rejecting on a vote of 13 to 7 a motion to strip it from the pending revenue bill.

Only yesterday the committee had tentatively accepted the House-approved withholding levy, and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) attempted vainly to have the action reconsidered today.

Following today's vote, Taft told reporters he would try next week to gain committee approval of a combination of the "pay-as-you-go" individual income tax collection plan in combination with the withholding levy. Taft said he considered the withholding levy by itself "inconvenient and expensive for the results obtained."

The 5 per cent to be withheld, under terms of the House bill, would serve as an advance collection, to be credited against 1943 income taxes payable March 15, 1944.

Lindemann Gets Analysis on Deer

which had been carelessly discarded on the premises.

Mr. Lindemann said that he also believed the animals had eaten too many green apples and that this factor coupled with the other findings might have caused them to die when taking water.

A report from the Albany Laboratory was submitted yesterday to Dr. L. L. Parker, Catskill veterinarian who had been called shortly after Mr. Lindemann discovered the first of the animals dead on the game farm.

The manner in which the deer died one after the other when taking water, caused the officials and Mr. Lindemann to suspect that they had been poisoned by a person or persons visiting the farm.

Mr. Lindemann said that while the 10 animals represent an estimated loss of $2,500, the loss in number is not serious. He still has more than 250 deer on his vast mountain tract.

Time Increased

Owing to the increased demand for surgical dressings by the United States armed forces, the United Red Cross surgical dressings department, under the leadership of Mrs. George Hutton, will be in operation three days per week beginning September 1. Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings from 9:30 o'clock until 12 noon, the local department's rooms, at 25 E. O'Reilly street, will be open to meet the increasing orders for surgical dressings.

Sugar for Hospitals

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Hospitals caring for persons acutely ill were assured today of the same amount of sugar they used last year. The Office of Price Administration revised its ration order to permit such hospitals to obtain 65 per cent of their normal supply, instead of 50 per cent, starting with the September-October allotment. Added to this will be the 25 per cent "bonus" allotment for all institutional users. This will give hospitals 90 per cent of their normal consumption. The other ten per cent is expected to be made up through limiting the use of non-patients and staff members to the 75 per cent level to which restaurants and hotels are limited in this period. Hospitals for the mentally ill, rest homes and sanitariums are not eligible.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Selling relaxed in today's stock market and enough bidding cropped up to put props under many of Wednesday's shaky leaders.

Demand was exceptionally light, however, and recoveries were mostly in fractions at the start. Plus marks were well distributed near the fourth hour.

The tumble of the preceding session, sharper in more than a month, was thought by some to have acted as a partial technical "correction" of the lengthy upswing and this, brokers said, caused the reinstatement of commitments here and there. The war news from Russia and the Solomon Islands was a trifle more optimistic and helped bolster speculative and investment sentiment to some extent.

Bonds and commodities steadied. Stocks given an occasional lift included Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Homestake Mining, Chrysler, Atlantic Coast Line and Western Union. Among intermittent losers were du Pont, Texas Co., Youngstown Sheet, Anaconda and United Aircraft.

Will Move Insignia

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The War Department announced today that army officers no longer will wear insignia of their rank on the shoulder loops of the shirts or field jackets, because the insignia interferes with the use of gas masks, carbines, and other military equipment. The insignia will be placed on the collar of the shirt where the letters "U.S." are now displayed, and also will be worn on the garrison cap. When officers wear the service coat, they will continue to display the insignia on the shoulder.

U.S. Launches Its Largest Man-o-War At Brooklyn Yard

Bard Declares Iowa Slides Down Ways Ahead of Schedule, Ready to Outshoot All

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—The 45,000-ton Iowa, the largest battleship this nation ever built, slipped down the ways of the Brooklyn Navy Yard today.

The mighty vessel was "launched months ahead of schedule" and is ready to "fire faster and farther than any other ship afloat," declared Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the Navy, who addressed the assemblage at the launching in the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

"One of her predecessors helped blast the Spanish fleet at Santiago Bay," he said. "Another was scrapped in 1923 in the name of peace—a peace that existed only in the minds and hopes of honorable men."

Fourth battle in U.S. Naval history to bear the name of the Hawk-eye State, the 880-foot monster was launched at exactly 10:36 A. M. (E. W. T.) when Mrs. Ilo Browne Wallace, wife of the Vice President, smashed a bottle of champagne on the ship's prow.

With water on her keel, the Iowa seemed to nose downstream with an eagerness to get underway, but was restrained by puffing tugboats. Several more months of work will be required on her superstructure.

Rear Admiral E. J. Marquart, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, said that according to available records the Iowa is "the heaviest ship ever launched."

In introducing Mrs. Wallace as the ship's sponsor, he said that 30,000 persons were attending the ceremonies in the yard and that an additional 10,000 were watching from the Manhattan side of the river.

A tremendous roar went up from both sides as the ship slipped into the water.

Bard said that the Japanese and Germans had built stealthily and well, "but I guarantee that they have never fashioned such a weapon as this ship."

He said that the Iowa was "a weapon that is far advanced over the battleships that were sunk at Pearl Harbor."

"This is no mere ship you have turned out today," he told the workers, "it is a tool with which America's future will be written on the pages of history."

Secretary of the Navy Knox, who was unable to attend the ceremony, sent a message which was read by Admiral Marquart and said in part:

"This is a great moment, but the truly triumphant moment will come only when fully manned and fitted, the Iowa joins the fleet to fight for freedom. Let nothing delay that moment. Hasten it with every spark of resourcefulness and every ounce of energy."

Mrs. Wallace, who like her husband is a native Iowan, was dressed in black silk poplin and wore orchids. Just as she broke the bottle of champagne on the ship's prow, she said:

"I christen thee Iowa. May God guard the Iowa and all who sail in her."

Standing beside Mrs. Wallace were Maj. James D. Leavenworth, of Washington, D. C., matron of honor, and Miss Jean B. Wallace, daughter of the Vice-President, acting as maid of honor.

The new Iowa is the first of six vessels of the same class including the New Jersey, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois and Kentucky, which are now under construction at various yards throughout the country.

Although many of the specifications of the new and powerful Iowa are military secrets, the Iowa revealed that her main battery will consist of 16-inch guns. Her length of 880 feet is 200 feet shorter than the largest ocean liner.

Facts About War

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Facts about the war effort of the United Nations will be presented in a special radio campaign of six weeks duration starting September 14 and featuring one-minute "spot" messages by widely known news commentators, the office of war information announced today.

Radio stations, which will give free time for the announcements, will be furnished with 43 brief transcripts. O. W. I. said the campaign was "the most important ever attempted" by the government through the radio.

The list of commentators includes William Shirer, Raymond Clapper, Raymond Graham Swing, H. V. Kaltenborn, John Gunther, Pearl Buck and others.

Six Persons Killed

Bombay, Aug. 27 (AP)—Six persons were killed today when troops fired on a crowd of demonstrators attempting to set fire to private property. As reports of disorders continued to filter in, the government of Bihar Province in northeast India directed that special courts be set up to speed the trial of those charged with criminal offenses.

Sympathy Is Expressed

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The body of William J. Kuczwalski, 43, Kings county assistant district attorney who disappeared Monday while fishing, was found yesterday in nearby Mariaville Lake. One of the seven state game protectors assigned to the search found the body.

Nurse Can't Buy Any Rationed Goods

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 27 (AP)—War rationing board officials announced today a Davenport nurse, identified only as Mrs. X, had been denied the right to purchase rationed articles any place in the United States as the result of her attempt to obtain a new automobile through deceit.

The woman made application for a new car at rationing offices in Davenport and nearby Moline, Ill., and board members said she falsified her answer to the question of whether she had ever applied for a car certificate before another board.

The order prohibiting her from buying rationed articles will close the case, they said, adding that she could have been fined up to $10,000, sentenced to 10 years in prison, or both, for her act.

Allies Encounter Japs at Milne Bay

One heavy aircraft carrier of a new type heavily damaged; Another, smaller carrier damaged.

A battleship of the Pennsylvania class damaged.

The communiqué listed these casualties for both sides since August 24 in an air-sea encounter east of the Solomon Islands which it called "the second battle of the Solomons."

The Japanese press described the Solomon Islands battle as an American defeat, saying the Americans, approaching the Solomons from the east, were sighted and attacked by the Japanese at 3 p. m. on August 24.

Nichi Nichi, Tokyo daily, said that "the damaged American aircraft carriers are obviously ships which were commissioned after the outbreak of war in east Asia," and the battleship was "most probably the Pennsylvania, which was damaged in the course of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and which meanwhile obviously had been repaired."

This was the first word from the Axis side on the tide of the struggle for the Solomons since the new phase of the naval battle began and the first word that a Japanese ship had been sunk.

United States Navy communiques have announced hits on more than 12 Japanese warships in the action, including a large and a small aircraft carrier, but have mentioned none of them as sunk.

There has been no report from Washington of any United States warship losses in the renewed naval battle and there is no confirmation of the Japanese claim to have hit two carriers and a battleship of the 33,100-ton Pennsylvania class.

Nelson's letter to the three offices of the armed services was "rather directly phrased," the W.P.B. source said, and called attention to the growing gravity of the materials problem, which has resulted in some temporary shutdowns of war plants and in others.

Exact machinery of the new system was not divulged.

Convict Would Organize Black Legion of Prisoners

Omaha, Aug. 27 (AP)—A proposal to organize an army division composed entirely of convicts and called the Black Legion—the suggestion of a Missouri prison inmate—has been placed before the adjutant general department in Washington.

Harry E. Justice, the convict, made the proposal in a letter to Maj. Gen. Frederick E. Uhl, commander of the Seventh Service Command, and General Uhl forwarded it to Washington for consideration.

The convict based his proposal on the contentions there are more than 200,000 prisoners in the nation, many prisoners are drilling men, and the physical fitness among prisoners probably is better than in the average community.

"You have no idea of the torture, the heartache, the disappointment and the longing that grips these men's souls every time they hear" about the war effort, Justice wrote. He realized, he said, that most people do not want their sons in service with convicts and suggested convict uniforms different from all others.

"Just give us the training and equipment to fight, and show us where to begin," Justice added. "And if when we come home America wants us to finish our sentences we will do that too."

At the Kingston Vocational School, 22 women have registered for a six to eight weeks' course in machine-shop training under the direction of Director Hubert Hoderath for three hours a day, five days a week. The women are shown above in the blueprint room where they will study for about two weeks before going into the machine shop. Shown in the above picture with the women is C. F. More Women Seek Work in Defense Plants Upstate

New York, Aug. 25.—The small filtering of women into upstate New York war production plants before the first of this year has increased in volume until a steady procession of feminine workers is now marching into war jobs or war production training courses. And this is merely the beginning, according to a survey of industrial areas recently completed by the United States Employment Service.

Richard C. Brockway, director of the U. S. E. S. for New York, said that hundreds of upstate employers visited during the month ending July 15, are beginning to realize they must employ women in large numbers, if they are going to keep their production schedules moving properly and at the same time avoid serious population dislocations. Even plants that have previously employed no women at all on their production lines see the handwriting on the wall and are beginning to take women workers.

It is not entirely a sudden appreciation of the industrial abilities of women that has brought about this swift development, however. Principal factors influencing the trend seem to be (1) a real shortage of resident male labor in the areas of most intensive activity, and (2) a deliberate policy of drawing into the labor market resident women who are not normally employed, rather than importing male labor from other areas.

thereby swelling local populations unduly and creating or intensifying housing shortages.

Nursing Squads Being Organized To Aid Civilians

Formation of community nursing squads whose members will be used for home nursing in the event of an emergency, is the latest project being undertaken jointly by the State Health Department and by the Health Preparedness Commission of the New York State War Council, to insure adequate nursing care for civilians. The program is in charge of Miss Margaret Arnstein, state nursing officer appointed by Major John J. Bourke, chief medical officer of the commission.

In a summary report of emergency nursing personnel to date, Miss Arnstein states that of the 36,473 graduate nurses currently registered in New York state, 3,304 have been assigned to serve, when necessary, at emergency medical field units, casualty stations and other organized mobile units. These nurses are, for the most part, attached to the staff of local hospitals because they can be assembled more quickly and easily than nurses at home or in private practice. While Miss Arnstein could give no figures on the number of nurses to be assigned to community squads, she believed the total will undoubtedly be greater than the number in the mobile units.

The nursing squads, to be composed of private duty and inactive nurses, would be called into action to augment existing home care nursing facilities in the event of (1) enemy action resulting in civilian casualties needing home care or patients evacuated from hospitals to make room for other casualties, (2) in case of epidemics. Members of squads would assist public health nurses in making home visits.

Five district nursing officers working under the direction of Miss Arnstein are presenting a plan for the organization of these nursing squads to communities throughout the state, and they will be available for consultation and advice.

Chicken Increase Gives More Eggs

1942 Production Rate Up 14 Per Cent

Albany.—Poultry and egg production at higher levels in New York this fall and winter is forecast by the current 12 per cent increase of chickens raised over last year, bringing the numbers five per cent over the 10-year (1931-40) average. More laying birds are usually expected in the winter and spring following such increases, according to a Federal-State report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. The extent to which laying flocks will actually be larger depends on how closely the new pullets are culled out along with the cockerels for broilers and fryers, and how sharply the layers in the old flocks are reduced in number.

Poultrymen in the United States raised 792,427,000 chickens which is 10 per cent over last year and 17 per cent greater than the 10-year average. The larger than usual increase in chickens raised this year is mainly the result of the war demand for fried eggs for Lend-Lease shipments. Increases over last year occurred in all parts of the country, with the largest relative increases in the west, north central and south central states.

July 1942 egg production in New York was 4 per cent higher than last year, and the national production was up 14 per cent. The total increases for the first seven months of 1942 over the same period in 1941 were 3 per cent in

New York and 16 per cent in the United States.

Tomatoes for Processing Up

Early indications point to a crop of about 189,600 tons of "canning factory" tomatoes in from the 23,700 acres growing in New York. Even with indicated yields considerably below last year, the production will be 11 per cent greater because of the increase in acreage. With weather conditions in August and September important factors in the development of crop, there is still possibility of deterioration or increase from the earlier estimates.

On a national basis, a factory tomato tonnage of 3,346,500 tons compares with 2,802,000 last season and 1,631,800 the 10-year average, on the basis of current indications.

The average ocean depth below sea level is 12,450 feet.

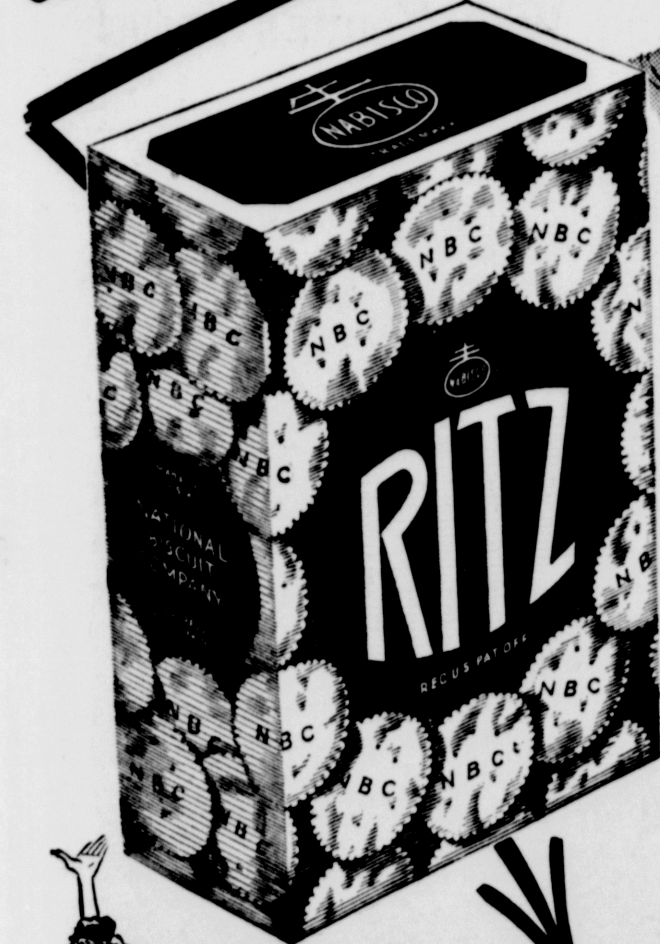

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A Tough War Baby —The Meat Problem

By HERMAN ALLEN

Why is there a meat shortage? What can be done about it? I confabbed with a couple of Agriculture Department experts about that.

"Well, heck," said one of them, "here's why there's a meat shortage."

He jotted down a few figures. "Look," he said. "Last year we produced 19,500,000,000 pounds of meat. Lend-lease and supplies for the armed forces took only 200,000,000 pounds, leaving a civilian supply of 19,300,000,000 pounds. We were operating under a 'free price' system then, without ceilings, so that supply was just equal with the demand."

"Now look at this year's figures. The total supply is bigger than ever—23 billion pounds. Lend-lease and armed forces will take about six billion pounds, leaving 17 billion for civilian consumption. "Average domestic consumption for the five years 1937 to 1941 was 17,800,000,000, slightly more than the supply for this year. However, men who will be in the armed forces by the end of the year normally would account for about 1,400,000,000 pounds a year in civilian life. On that basis, you would expect the demand to be about 16,400,000,000 pounds this year."

"In spite of that, we figure the demand is going to be 20 billion pounds—three million more than the supply."

"What we really have is a normal supply but a demand far above normal."

There have been statements in some quarters that one reason for the shortage is that packers have to pay high prices for livestock (there is no ceiling on the animals themselves) and have to sell at comparatively low wholesale ceiling prices. The reasoning is that this is forcing some packers out of business and that consequently there is less meat on the market.

My two men at the Agriculture Department snorted.

"Shucks," said one, "in the first place, we have reports of only three or four small packers going out of business. In the second place, there aren't any loose marketable animals running around. The demand is so great that they're going to be snapped up by other packers."

It is true that some packers are feeling the squeeze, and one suggested remedy is a ceiling on livestock.

Right there, said my two experts, is the catch. It would be next to impossible to set a ceiling on beef cattle, for instance, because you have to consider the meat yield of various breeds, ages, weights, etc.

Meat has been especially short the past two or three months, just as it is every summer. Until marketing picks up in the fall, the Agricultural Marketing Administration has done two things to relieve the pinch. First, although the meat going to our fighting Russian allies is regarded as "the most important meat on earth," purchases for lend-lease have been temporarily reduced. Second, prices for meat still being shipped abroad have been set below the ceiling for other AMA purchases. This tends to make meat flow into domestic rather than lend-lease channels.

How to make the best of the shortage? Two plans are being considered. One is to allocate meat to various regions, then to states and perhaps to counties and cities and even individual butcher shops. The other plan is just old fashioned rationing, like sugar. The WPB Food Requirements Committee, which developed the allocation idea, also has asked OPA to "proceed as rapidly as possible with the formulation of procedures for consumer rationing of meat." OPA, however, insists it has no immediate intention of rationing meat.

Ships Will Bear Names of Heroes

Six Liberty Vessels Will Be Launched Labor Day in U. S. Yards

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Six Liberty ships, named for heroes of American organized labor, will be launched Labor Day, September 7, the Maritime Commission announced today.

Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, commission vice chairman, said all shipyards working on the vast merchant ship program, would be open for work Labor Day, but that a brief ceremony would be held in each yard.

The 1942-43 construction program calls for 2,300 merchant ships of 23,000,000 deadweight tons.

The names of the vessels and the yards at which they will be launched:

Samuel Gompers, California Shipbuilding Company, Wilmington, Calif.

Andrew Furuseth, Richmond Yard No. 1, and Peter J. McGuire, Richmond Yard No. 2, Richmond, Calif.

James Duncan, Oregon Shipbuilding Corporation, Portland, Ore.

John Mitchell and John W. Brown, Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard, Baltimore.

State to Produce Bumper Corn Crop

Plenty of Moisture, Heat Increases Height

Ithaca—There is every prospect of an excellent corn crop throughout the state this year, according to Dr. F. P. Russell of the New York State College of Agriculture.

Plenty of moisture and heat has produced a corn crop a foot higher than usual at most farms. This will boost the crop of seed corn made up of the varieties best suited for ensilage and grain production, says Dr. Russell.

He states that about 1,300 acres of hybrid field corn is being grown in the state for seed this year, and it is likely that 45,000 bushels of seed will be produced or enough to plant 200,000 acres of corn next season.

In line with the shift to hybrid corn for grain and ensilage, says Dr. Russell, is the fact that nearly all of the 4,000 acres of sweet corn grown for canning purposes in New York state is also hybrid corn. Larger yields per acre, uniformity in size of ear and better quality of product are given as the reason for this.

Market reports indicate that sweet corn prospects in New York state are for a crop eight per cent above the five-year average, but 12 per cent less than the 1941 crop. The acreage planted to sweet corn in the state this year (27,300) was 11 per cent larger than the harvested acreage last year and 31 per cent more than the five-year average. The August 1 prospects indicate a yield (two tons) of a half ton less per acre than last year.

With a cut in the supplies of soft drinks in Scotland, concentrated drinks to which water only is to be added will be increased to maintain supplies for the thirsty at last year's level.

Australia has demonstrated that it can grow tung trees yielding tung oil equal at least to that produced in China.

Producer gas is being used to run stationary motors in Sweden.

At the Fuller Shirt Factory on Pine Grove avenue Tuesday noon a party was held in honor of Herbert Williams (left) of 53 First avenue, who is employed in the cutting room, and Frank Grant (right), of 102 McEntee street, who is employed in the boxing room, and are leaving Friday morning for active service in the army.

MODENA

Modena, Aug. 26—Plans are complete for the 21st annual clambake, conducted under the management of the Modena Methodist Church members, and served in the community hall on Thursday evening, August 27, at 7 o'clock. More than 160 tickets have been sold. Proceeds will benefit the Modena Methodist Church.

Tuesday, the regular clinic for infants and pre-school children will be held in the community hall. Transportation problems are intensified, since those who previously brought children to the clinic from distant areas, are employed by fruit growers.

Tuesday, local leaders of the Modena Home Bureau unit, including Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Weyant Courter, Sr., Frank Black, will attend a business meeting of Ulster county unit leaders at Kingston.

Thursday, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Modena Methodist Church will meet at Mrs. Emory Conklin's home. Reports of the recent food sale conducted on the lawn of the Methodist parsonage, with Mrs. William Doolittle as chairman, will be made.

Thursday evening, the Modena Fire Department will meet in the fire house.

Owing to the Labor Day holiday, the regular meeting of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattkill will postpone their scheduled date of the first Monday evening in the month, to Monday evening, September 14. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Weyant Courter, Sr., president of the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis, Mr. and Mrs. DuBois Grimm, attended the annual fair sponsored by members of the Reformed Church at Woodstock, Thursday, last week.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Venable attended the funeral of the former's sister at New Jersey, recently.

Mr. DuBois Grimm has closed her store in Woodstock, and has moved equipment and merchandise to Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. Weyant Courter, accompanied by Mrs. Gershom Mount of Ardonia, have returned home from a vacation spent at Glenelg Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis of Highland were dinner guests of Mrs. A. D. Wager and Miss Glennie Wager on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hartney and daughter Joan, also William Hartney, were visitors in Kingston, Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Upright of Wallkill visited Mrs. Anna Miller on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhinehart and family of Poughkeepsie visited relatives here last week-end.

E. Anderson of Long Island, spent the week-end at his summer home north of Modena village, the former Morris farm.

Mrs. Peter Rooney is recovering from an operation performed recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton Couch of Verbank, are parents of a young son born in Vassar Hospital. Mrs. Couch is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Venable.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tozzi of New Paltz, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Donahue and daughter Mary.

Mrs. Lester Wager and sons, Lester, Jr., and Ronald, spent Sunday with Mrs. Louis Denton, Sr., and family in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coy and Miss Gladys Coy, also their guest, Mrs. Carrie Van Wagenen of Newburgh, visited at the home of William Hartney and family, Sunday evening.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Because of a change of standards, local boards have been directed to review the classification of IV-F registrants and select those eligible for military service and who are not placed in Classes II or III, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York state director of selective service, stated today.

Originally, many registrants were found physically unfit by their local board examining physicians and by the army doctors at the induction station, he said. Since their classification, the original physical requirements have been liberalized and many of these registrants are now eligible for induction.

Another group of registrants was placed in IV-F because of their inability to meet the educational standards. Registrants who can understand simple orders in English and who possess the ability to absorb military training rapidly are now eligible for induction.

A third group of registrants was placed in IV-F for moral reasons, such as conviction for a felony and an undesirable discharge from the armed forces. Some of these registrants were rejected because they were under civil authority.

The army has since adopted a procedure whereby release by such authority is an exemplary conduct of the registrant make it possible for his acceptance.

"While these changes in procedure will not affect a large group of men, they will make it possible for a large percentage of Class IV-F to serve their country in the armed forces," General Brown said.

Shorthand, Secretarial, Accounting Fall Term Sept. 1 Burgevin Bldg., Corner Fair & Main

By L. L. STEVENSON

Blindfold a veteran New Yorker—Conrad Thibault is doing this column for me—and he'll tell you what street he's on. It's not done with mirrors or are New Yorkers especially steeped in the occult. Rather it's done with the ear for New York is a city of unique noises. For example: You know you're on "long-haired" 57th street when you hear contralto "la-la-las" floating above the rumble of traffic. These trained voices pour out of the high, old-fashioned windows of the many music studios neighboring Carnegie and Steinway halls. Frenzied and more rhythmic voices pour out of other studios and their "zaz-zu-zaz" quality tells you that you're on Broadway and 48th street, near the Brill building, the Palace Theater building or the Strand building—headquarters for music studios where young hopefuls from all over the world give endless auditions for musical shows, for night-club reviews and for one-night stands.

Not all of New York's voices are singing. The heated, ungrammatical bickerings of the city's dead-enders, or the raucous voices of the hucksters tell you that you are near the East Side or the West Side waterfront. The despairing, unashamed "Spare a dime, mister!" would tip this observer off to the shadowy Bowery or sun-drenched South street. Wild, lowdown and sensuous rhythms and "live," which passes for conversation, these are the oral landmarks of Harlem after dark. Animated controversies, bordering on the belligerent, of a sociopolitical nature are a dead giveaway of Union square. No longer of Columbus circle, however. There the loud blatherings of the soap boxers have been cancelled for the duration.

A soft babble of voices, an urbane discussion of art values, tinged ever so neatly with the Bohemian concept, that could be no other place than Greenwich village. Excited talk of the theater, maybe a vigorous exchange of opinions regarding a play, a playwright or an actor, that must be 44th street, west of Broadway where even the rain is a Shubert production. The hushed whisperings of sweethearts tell you that you are on Riverside drive and the sprightly clickety-clack of the hooves of horses is ample proof that you are in Central park, where hansom cabs, fetching reminders of another day and another New York, still travel their appointed rounds which is a clear case of aiding and abetting love.

On the other hand, New York is a city of unique sights, many assuredly not very inspiring or even pretty, but almost all overwhelmingly human in their mingled elements of greed, kindness, despair, joy, struggle, hypocrisy, humanity, psychopathia, ad nauseam. Fleeting pictures that become fixed in the mind like a crazy quilt or some giant panorama of movement and people and noise. The great lights of the city are now dimmed because of the war. But the surging night life which they once illumined, is still very much alive.

Recollections: A sailor with a touch of superman, getting a kick out of scaling a great sign construction off 42nd street, ambulating precariously along a ledge some 75 feet above ground while a crowd gawks below, knowing not whether to appear horrified or amused... A tattered W. C. Fieldsian mendicant on Lexington avenue begging a dime and then intoning a prepared two-minute benediction on his "sainted sucker"... A loud and offensive character, known as "Broadway Rose," approaching celebrities of the entertainment world, demanding hand-outs of money, insulting them and sometimes spitting in their faces if they refuse. She has been put away on various occasions, but as I am writing, is again at liberty.

These and a million and one other dramatic minutiae make New York the swarming and unbelievable microcosm it undoubtedly is. It's full of raw impulses and is driven by a great lust for living. It is eternally fantastic and wonderful. It glories in the praises that are sung to it—and yet it defies description!

U. S. Spends $110,000 A Minute in the War

WASHINGTON.—Average daily federal expenditures for war purposes jumped to $158,600,000 last month as the total for the month reached a new all-time high of $4,123,000,000, the War Production board revealed.

This means that every minute during the month the government spent more than $110,000.

TO TYPEWRITE ON MOURNING PAPER IS PERMISSIBLE

By EMILY POST

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

It is perhaps curious that typewritten notes came into social practice first on black-edged paper and written by those who found it easier to use a typewriter than to hold an unsteady pen. This is in answer to a reader who is in deep mourning and who tells me: "My handwriting is not very legible, and I prefer to write all my letters on the typewriter. But I shall be in mourning for some time for my husband and wonder whether it is permissible to typewrite on black-bordered paper?"

To this I can add that very elderly ladies sometimes prefer a purple ribbon—but I much prefer black.

Friends to Announce Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents are not living and for the past eight years I have been making my home with a couple to whom I am not related. They weren't even friends when I went to live with them. They mean everything to me now. I feel nearer to them than to my few relatives who live out of town and whom I seldom see. I would like them to announce my marriage—which they are willing to do—but none of us knows how to word the announcements.

Answer:

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Jones have the honor of announcing the marriage of

Miss Mary Alice Smith

to

Mr. James Black, etc.

Blind Data:

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a business girl. Two weeks ago I had a blind date with a soldier who was the buddy of the soldier whom one of my best friends was going out with. After that evening he called me at my office, but I was out. I haven't heard from him since. May I write him a note of any kind to encourage him to telephone again?

Answer: There is no reason why you may not write that you were sorry not to have been in when he called you, and you might add that you are usually at home between such and such hours. Or it might be better to wait and invite him to your house when you are asking some other people.

May One Eat Apple Pie with a Spoon?

Dearest Mrs. Post: When apple pie is served with cream—not necessarily whipped cream—is it improper to eat the pie with a spoon?

Answer: According to correct formal service both a fork and a spoon are always supplied for dessert, and you use whichever implement you prefer. In fact, it is entirely correct to use both.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Casserole Plays the Lead

By BEULAH V. GILLASPIE

WHAT shall we serve for a main dish today? Well, there's the good old adage of "One hot dish at least, with every meal." And here's a Casserole that fills the bill, satisfies appetites and budgets. A real home-man's main course!

LIVER AND EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

1 medium eggplant 3 tablespoons plant
1 1/4 pounds sliced beef 1 1/4 cups milk
3 tablespoons liver catsup
Butter Buttered soft
Salt and pepper bread crumbs

Pare eggplant and cut in cubes. Cook in a very small quantity of boiling salted water until tender.

Drain and boil down the liquid to 1/4 cup. Place the eggplant in a buttered baking dish. Fry the liver in butter until browned on both sides and partially cooked. Cut in small cubes, place on the eggplant and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add the flour to the drippings in the frying pan and mix well. (Add more butter if necessary.) Add the milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the eggplant liquid and catsup and stir until well mixed. Season with salt and pepper and pour over the liver. Cover with the crumbs and bake in a moderately hot oven (375°F.) for about 25 minutes or until the liver is completely cooked and the crumbs are browned. Six servings.

Geneva Tests Dwarf Fruit Trees for Small Gardens

Geneva, N. Y.—New and improved rootstocks for fruit trees have done much to revive interest in dwarf trees, especially for the small garden, says Dr. H. B. Tukey, horticulturist at the State Experiment Station here. These new rootstocks produce trees of varying degrees of dwarfing so that a given variety may be secured as a very dwarf tree, a semi-dwarf, or a standard tree.

A small tree lends itself to better and easier control of insect pests and diseases, says Dr. Tukey. Furthermore, since dwarf trees come into bearing earlier than standard trees, outmoded varieties can be more rapidly replaced by new and improved kinds. These features are particularly attractive to commercial fruit growers who are demanding slightly smaller than standard trees that may be more easily pruned, sprayed, thinned, and picked. Although these rootstocks are promising, the Station is not yet ready to make recommendations for their use for commercial orchard planting by fruit growers.

For garden planting, however, the very dwarf trees which are obtained by working standard varieties on the Malling IX rootstocks, are proving quite desirable, declares Dr. Tukey. Such trees grow scarcely taller than a man and may be set 10 by 10 feet or even six or eight feet apart in a row along a border or a property line. The trees bloom and bear some fruit the second year and all are in bearing the third year.

"Quite aside from the appeal of the fruit is the attractiveness of the blossoms and the general interest that a small tree of this type occasions," says Dr. Tukey, adding, "They are a pleasing sight and a real satisfaction, and of special interest just now when suburban plantings, victory gardens, and subsistence farming are being pushed to the front by the war effort."

Two Bronx Men Plead to Slayings Of Their Wives

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Two Bronx men, one a salesman, the other a butcher, pleaded guilty yesterday to first degree manslaughter charges in the slayings of their wives last April. The slayings occurred three days apart.

Bronx County Judge James M. Barrett accepted a recommendation from the district attorney's office that Hyman Glick, 50-year-old salesman, be permitted to plead to manslaughter in place of an indictment for first degree murder. The court fixed September 23 for sentencing.

Glick's wife, Bella, mother of four children, was fatally bludgeoned in their apartment with a Boy Scout hatchet. She was found still alive after Glick appeared at a police station and shouted "I just killed my wife."

Nathan Seidin, 49, butcher, also pleaded guilty to the lesser count. His wife, Kate, was found stabbed to death in their apartment after neighbors, awakened by an argument, summoned police.

Gasoline Odds Against Him, Pulsifer Says

Yarmouth, Me., Aug. 27 (AP)—Police Chief Howard S. Pulsifer complained today that "some folks can get extra gasoline to raise Cain, but I can't get any to stop 'em."

Unless his 28-man force gets more gasoline, said the chief, it would be unable to continue patrolling that part of Route 1 (the Portland-Boston highway) which includes a mile of coastal demilitarized territory in Yarmouth. Pulsifer said he had received no reply to his application for more gasoline.

Advice to Workers

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles T. Harris' advice to American locomotive company workers is: "You've got to help us make sure that when the time comes for our big-scale offensive against the Axis we won't be lacking in materiel." General Harris, Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds commanding officer, presented the Army-Navy "E" banner to the locomotive plant yesterday and urged workers to "keep up the good work" in producing "more and even more" tanks.

Youthful Trick Artist At Rotary Luncheon

Joseph Rourke mystified, with his tricks of magic, the members of the Kingston Rotary Club on Wednesday noon following the luncheon-meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The youthful prestidigitator displayed remarkable talent in the presentation of his many tricks of legerdemain.

Captain Fred S. Carr, who will enter service in the Medical Corps, United States Army, was presented with a gift from the service club members.

Captain James P. Byrne, home on furlough, was present at the luncheon.

Very Serious—Years Ago!

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—A BBC broadcast heard today by CBS quoted Joseph Stalin as saying "the military situation remains very serious; history has perhaps never known so gigantic a battle," but the official Soviet radio monitor in London said the remark was made seven years ago in a political speech. The monitor added the BBC apparently was misled by the fact it was quoted in today's issue of Pravda, Communist Party paper.

Census Bureau Cites Collection of Taxes

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Census Bureau said today that the 48 states collected nearly $5,000,000,000 in taxes in the fiscal year which ended June 30—an estimated 10 per cent increase over the preceding year.

The biggest gains were 67 per cent in corporation income taxes, 22 per cent in tobacco taxes, 20 per cent in unemployment insurance levies, 14.5 per cent in individual income taxes, 13 per cent in alcoholic beverage taxes, and 11 per cent in sales taxes.

Gasoline and other automotive taxes were about even for the country as a whole, with the previous year. Collections of chain store taxes declined 33 per cent, general property levies dropped 14 per cent, death and gift taxes decreased 6 per cent.

14 Strikes Settled

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—New York's board of mediation settled 14 strikes during July, the State Labor Department reported today, leaving only five disputes—involving 159 workers—active at the end of the month. The board considered 21 strikes during the month, two of them holdovers from June, said Chairman Arthur S. Meyer. Board efforts averted strikes in 44 disputes, settled 106 others by arbitration and two strikes were referred to other agencies.

Connelly Honors Group

Four men of Connelly leaving Friday for the induction center, were honored Wednesday evening with a surprise dinner held at the "shack" with about 30 friends of the boys turning out to bid them farewell. The turkey dinner was prepared by the Victory restaurant of Connelly. Shown above, standing left to right, are three of the selectees, Joseph Scherer, Jr., Leonard Avery and Edgar Maurer. Austin Avery was unable to attend the party held after the dinner.

Forsyth Captures Model Plane Meet

Bill Niles and Bill Goldberg Help to Mount Total for Park

Amassing a total of 150 points Forsyth Park captured top honors in the annual inter-playground aircraft meet held at the municipal stadium Wednesday. The meet was sponsored by the department of recreation. Hasbrouck Park came in second with a total of 46 points while Block Park finished third with 18 markers. In the smallest event Don Donahue of Forsyth won first place with William Niles of the same park in second. Harold Matthews of Hasbrouck Park captured first in the largest event while Bill Goldberg of Forsyth came in second.

The best construction job was turned in by Harold Matthews and second place was taken by Goldberg. Matthews also took a third place finish. In the most unusual event the Matthews boy again placed first over Goldberg. Steve Keating of Forsyth placed third. Harold Matthews also won first for his rubber-powered Oriole, while Bill Goldberg took honors with his stick type sunset.

A track 78.86 miles in length, between Wilmington and Hamlet, N. C., is the longest stretch of track without a curve in the United States.

Playground Air Meet Held in City

The department of recreation held its annual inter-playground aircraft meet Wednesday afternoon at the municipal stadium. This is the first time the meet was held at the stadium. Shown above top photo is the winning plane being prepared for flight, the plane flew for 1:47.5 minutes. Shown standing left is Leonard Goldberg, helper to his brother, Bill Goldberg, left who is builder and owner of the winning plane. Stephen Keating, Jr., is shown in back center holding a Westland Tysander, which was also one of the winners in yesterday's meet. Bill Niles is shown in the lower photo holding a Leaning Amphibian which is a shelf model and won on construction status. Bill is holding in his left hand a Clodhopper glider which also headed the list at the meet.

Firemen Respond to Two Alarms; Mattress Burns

Fire in a mattress on a bed in the apartment of Jason C. Lawrence on the first floor of the apartment house at 58 Henry street, was the cause of an alarm being rung in from Box 1131 at 7:12 o'clock this morning.

The apartment house is owned by Anna DeMott and is occupied by four families. The quick response of the fire department confined the fire to the mattress and there was but little damage to the bedroom. Later in the morning the fire department was called to the Jacobson shirt factory on Cornell street for a fire in a pile of soft coal. The fire department had been called several times previously for fires breaking out in the pile. The fire was caused by spontaneous combustion.

Four Are Accused

Four automobilists were arrested Wednesday night by the police on charges of failing to observe full stop signs. All four were held for their appearance later in police court. The four are George McDonald of New York, Vito Jacobellis of 478 Albany avenue, Leo C. Smith of 22 Hanratty street, and Irving H. Wilcox of R.F.D. 1, Kingston.

Poughkeepsian Is Held

Joseph B. Marcinko of Poughkeepsie was arrested last night charged with public intoxication. He had no draft registration card on his person, and this morning Judge Matthew V. Let's Plan a Labor Day Picnic

BRAMBURGHES . . . Broil them over the campfire, then call for more

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Wide World Food Editor

What better way to celebrate Labor Day than a family or neighborhood picnic? Eating out of doors is always fun, appetizing, sharpening and nerve-resting in these days of war work tensions. America's picnic fans are undaunted by travel restrictions. They are finding their own backyards and nearby parks fine picnic spots. Many hike or go by bike and a few can put their lunch baskets into the buggy hitched to old Dobbin.

One main hot dish is enough for this meal. It should be piping hot and plentiful. Lamb or beef stew, fish or vegetable chowder or escalloped dishes can be started at home and then finished over the camp fires. Chops, steaks or any member of the burger family can be cooked on the spot.

To prevent scorching, reheat vegetables and creamed potatoes in a double boiler set on the grill or placed on the camp stove. To help with the cleaning up and remove soot from cooking utensils, carry along some old newspapers. A pair of heavy canvas gloves will save burned fingers.

A shaker filled with seasoning blends gives extra pep to cooked or cold meat, hashed brown potatoes or roasting ears. Mix together in a large shaker salt, pepper, savory seasoning powder and chili powder, or any other blend you like.

Officials Would Clear
Passengers on Gripsholm

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—Within jumping distance of American land, 600 repatriates waiting to be released by U. S. officials began their third day today aboard the diplomatic exchange liner Gripsholm since it docked with more than 1,400 passengers from Japan and other parts of the Orient.

To speed clearance of those remaining aboard, officials already had removed approximately 145 passengers to Ellis Island for further questioning.

Almost complete inspection of a record load of 1,600 pieces of luggage had been accomplished by 200 customs officers brought from

BRAMBURGHES (8 Cakes)
1 egg 1 tablespoon
1½ teaspoons chopped
salt 1½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon 1 cup bran
pepper 1 pound
2 tablespoons ground
minced beef
onion 8 slices bacon

Beat egg; add salt, pepper, onion, parsley, milk and bran. Let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Add beef and mix thoroughly. Cut slices of bacon lengthwise into thin strips. Melt meat mixture into 8 patties, wrapping two strips of bacon around each one, fastening with toothpick. Cook ten minutes in frying pan over camp fire.

For a new frank version try CREOLE FRANKFURTERS. They are thrifty, filling and tasty. Place 15 or so frankies in a shallow pan. Add 2½ cups canned condensed tomato soup. Cover and heat slowly for 15 minutes. Turn the frankies several times with a fork. Slip the frankies into buttered plain or toasted buns or spear each with a long pointed stick and eat "as is."

STEAKBOBS are a real he-man food. Cut well tenderized beef steak (round, flank, or other economy cut) into inch squares. The steak should be about ½ inch thick. Spear the meat squares on all parts of the port of New York. Officials hope to clear those aboard today, leaving only those detained at Ellis Island for more prolonged questioning.

Among those transferred to Ellis Island were approximately 20 missionaries. Returning diplomats said a series of pacifist meetings advocating the opening of peace negotiations took place aboard the ship on its homeward journey.

Although cautioned by government officials to be reticent about their treatment because many compatriots were still in enemy countries, some of the passengers cleared volunteered information of bad treatment at the hands of the Japanese and hardships of confinement in enemy territory. Others said they suffered no indignities.

wooden sticks or skewers, alternating with thin onion slices. Allow about 5 meat squares per portion. Dip barbecue sauce and broil over glowing fire. For extra flavor give each bob 2 more barbecue dips during the cooking period.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN BARBECUE SAUCE gives just the needed zip to steaks, chops, chicken and other meats cooked in the open. It will keep several days stored, covered, in the refrigerator, so any left over can be well used on kitchen-cooked meats, fish or fowl. Mix ½ cup butter, 1 1/3 cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1/3 cup catsup, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/3 teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons chopped onion, ½ teaspoon chili powder and 1 teaspoon sugar. Simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Cool, take to the picnic in a covered jar and reheat when needed. For extra flavor a clove of garlic can be simmered with the sauce and then discarded.

ROASTING EARS are grand for picnics when most of the food is cooked out of doors. Select fresh corn and pull back the husks from each ear to inspect carefully for worms. Then replace the husks, pulling well over the end of each ear of corn. Soak 15 minutes in cold water. Bake on grill or stove and cook 15 to 20 minutes. Turn several times with long handled forks or spoons. Serve piping hot and drenched in melted butter.

U. S. Order Curbs
Kaiser From Added
Steel Violations

Order Says Firm Bought
Steel and Evaded O.P.A.
Price Maximums,
Paid Profiteer

Cleveland, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Kaiser Co., Inc., headed by the west coast shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser, and a Cleveland concern were restrained by a federal court order today from further alleged violations of O.P.A. price ceilings on steel.

The temporary restraining order, signed by Federal District Judge Robert N. Wilkin at the request of the Office of Price Administration, named the Kaiser concern and the Builders Structural Steel Co. of Cleveland.

James C. Gruener, regional O.P.A. attorney, declared the Kaiser Co. purchased from the Cleveland concern 504,000 pounds of steel on only one order, but which he said was shipped in less than carload lots to evade O.P.A.'s price maximums. The order was given in mid-July, Gruener said, and added in a statement:

"In purchasing its steel on an illegal market, the Kaiser Co., Inc., has branded itself as a scofflaw participant in the illegal transactions" cited in the court order. "In its eagerness to snatch steel from the other steel furnished war industries by paying profiteer prices, it enabled the Builders Structural Steel Company to violate the law."

"The Builders Structural Steel Co., for its part, has taken advantage of the war-made steel shortage to exact an illegal toll. The excessive prices which it charged are in reality paid by the public, which is financing the war effort."

Judge Wilkin ordered a hearing for September 5. Kaiser, who proposes to build gigantic cargo planes for the government if he can find enough materials, was not named personally in the court order. Gruener said it grew out of investigation of dealings of Willard P. Markle, a Houston (Tex.) steel broker who in a consent decree signed here Monday was permanently restrained from violating O.P.A. ceilings. The Markle investigation, in turn, started when Frank Higgins, son of the president of Higgins Industries, Inc., New Orleans, publicly indicated his firm was able to buy steel products on a "black market."

O.P.A. Lifts Ceiling

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today lifted the price ceiling from the sale of dehydrated vegetables to the army, navy and other government purchasing agencies in order to encourage development of dehydrated foods for war purposes. However, to forestall unwarranted high prices on government purchases, the price agency warned that indications of such a trend would result in prompt issuance of a maximum price order covering sales to the government.

Rail Income Gains

Philadelphia, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad reported today net operating income of $14,927,241 for July, an increase of $5,154,978 over July, 1941. Net income for the first seven months of the year was $59,753,518, or $7,301,945 more than the same period last year.

Final Community
Night Is Slated

Inter-Park Events Set for Hasbrouck Park

Mayor William F. Edelmuth will open the final four-star master community night which is slated for Hasbrouck Park tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The starting time has been changed by one-half hour due to the length of the program.

This year, as in previous years, the concluding master community night is given over to an inter-park entertainment competition. Each park has prepared a surprise show which will be presented. The winning park will receive points toward the trophy.

Among other features this trophy will be presented to the winning park tonight. These points are received by competition in several inter-park events which have been held throughout the entire season.

This final entertainment is the final event where points may be obtained. The race is unusually close this year and the final program tonight will decide the playground championship of the city.

Judges for tonight's program will be Mrs. Gross, Mrs. Milton Wagenfroh and Robert Browning. Another feature on the program is the popular band, the Kingston New Yorkers. This is the young juvenile group which was organized at the beginning of the season to play at all of the master nights. The band is under the direction of Al Rossi, local musician.

The order of the program follows: Opening Mayor Edelmuth America All Selection—Paper Doll Band A Skit Barmann Park Variety act Clearwater Park Selections—He Wears a Fair of Silver Wings; One Dozen Roses. Band

THESE WOMEN

She'll Help Rule
The WAVES

By ADELAIDE KERR
Wide World Features Writer

Elizabeth Reynard has crammed more claims to fame into 43 years than most people make in a lifetime.

Her latest is her new job as assistant director of the WAVES. Before that she was decorated for work in the last World War, explored glaciers, taught English at Barnard College with whopping success, authored a book and, in 1941-42, directed Barnard's National Service Training, preparing women for various types of war work.

Since early May she has been working with the U. S. Navy as special assistant to Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, helping to lay the groundwork for the Women's Reserve of the U. S. Naval Reserve. So she has had part in the service from the ground up.

War Work Veteran

Lieutenant Reynard was born in Boston, daughter of a cotton broker and granddaughter of a whaling captain. She traveled much as a child and never went to school until she entered college. She was in Paris when the last war was declared, did extensive war work in France, England and Belgium in her teens and, at 20, was decorated by the Belgian government for her work in placing the first amusement butts behind the Belgian lines. Then she returned to America and entered Barnard College. After she was graduated in '22 she became a member of its teaching staff and remained until '41, with the exception of two years which she spent at Oxford University, England, to obtain a B.Litt. degree, and another two taken to write "The Narrow Land" (folk chronicles of Cape Cod). She is now on leave of absence from Barnard.

Miss Reynard is a slender woman with blue-as-the-sea eyes and a fluffy pepper-and-salt bob. Up to now her chief claim to fame has been the color and zing which she managed to smack into the routine job of teaching. Her pupils will tell you she worked them practically breathless and succeeded in making them think—whether they wanted to or not. Her friends talk with some awe about "the things she is everlastingly getting into."

Rambling around an Oxford book shop once, she found and bought for a half crown a volume of Pliny's Natural History. It contained a set of Hans Weiditz woodcuts whose mates sold afterward at Christie's for $25,000. Miss Reynard still has hers.

Exploring Her Hobby

Another time she was exploring Cape Cod when she found and fell in love with a bit of woodland which stretched down to the beach. She bought it and built a house there without benefit of architects.

Again, she was riding her hobby, exploring Muir Glacier in Alaska when it was rocked by a "shake" and Miss Reynard fell down a fissure. It took three guides and four hours to haul her out.

At home she is the typical absent-minded professor. Once, wondering why her head felt so heavy, she went to bed with her hat on. Again, entertaining friends at tea, she lost the teapot after she had poured in the boiling water and looked all over the house for it before she finally found it in the refrigerator.

Lieutenant Reynard probably will be glad to be in uniform. Shopping for clothes bores her. She dresses chiefly in navy blue and always refers to herself as "the woman who looks like a mouse." Her friends say, "Some mouse!"

Two Newark Eagle Homers Down Recreations by 4 to 3 Score

Simmons Is Victim Of Circuit Clouts In Final Innings

Frank San Filippo Plays Final Game; Reports for Induction Soon; 11 Hits for Recs

The Kingston Recreations out-hit the Newark Eagles last night at the municipal stadium as the veteran Bill Simmons limited the Negro National League club to six hits. However, two of those socks went for home runs off the bats of Don Park and Bob Walker. Coming from behind, the Eagles tripped the Recs by 4 to 3, the second win over the locals this year.

It was another thriller right from the start. Simmons was opposed by Max Mannings who was coked for 11 hits but pitched good ball except for a bumpy sixth inning when the Recs collected all of their runs. It was Kingston's first loss since the acquisition of Roy Tarr and Al Cucinello. The loss also snapped a two-game winning streak.

The two roundtrippers off Simmons pulled the Eagles through after it looked as though the Recs were going to even the count with the negro club. Park slapped out his four-master in the seventh with one on to make it 3-2 for Kingston. Then in the ninth with the score tied 3-3, Walker poled a tremendous drive into center field to win the ball game.

Waterbury Saturday
Fred Davis's Waterbury Brassos will be at the municipal stadium Saturday night for their engagement with the Recreations. The Nutmeg State club has been going like a house on fire this year and the former Kingston Colonial pilot is banking on his boys to trim the Recs. The Brassos have defeated such outstanding clubs as the Chicago American Giants, Puerto Ricans, Black Yankees and many other negro ball clubs. Whitey Tulacz will pitch for Kingston.

Simmons and Mannings hooked up in a real dogfight last night for five innings before the Recs pushed across three big runs in the last of the sixth. However, in the interim both fingers were in hot water.

The Eagles threatened in the first when Stone was hit by a pitched ball and Lennie Pearson singled to left. But Simmons bore down and fanned Davis to end the uprising. In the last of the second Kingston had Mannings on the ropes when Al Cucinello singled through third and Mannings walked. Kowalek left the runners stranded as he whiffed.

The Recreations staged another threatening gesture in the fourth after Downer popped to Park. Cucinello and Lucchi slapped out successive base hits. After Coleman popped to Pearson, Mannings was called out on strikes.

San Filippo Hits

Finally in the sixth frame the Recs made their bid good when Roy Tarr opened with a single to center and went to second on Downer's bunt. Cucinello lifted out to Day in center. Lucchi walked. Ralph Coleman sliced a hot single into right, scoring Tarr. Frank San Filippo batted for Mannings and promptly poled a single over second, driving in Angelo Lucchi. With Frank on first and Coleman on third, the Recs pulled a double steal, both runners being safe as Coleman scored Kingston's third and final run. Kowalek again ended the inning by bouncing out to Mannings.

The 3-0 lead was short-lived, however, as the Eagles bounced back with a pair of runs in the seventh. Johnny Davis singled sharply to left and rode home when Don Park poled a long drive over Downer's head for a home run. The ball rolled up the embankment around the 430 foot sign for a tremendous four-trip.

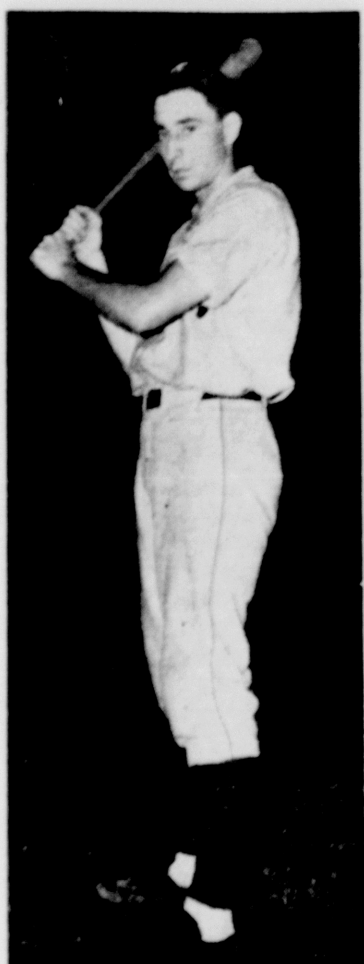

Newark tied the score in the top half of the eighth when Day singled to center, stole second and came home on Pearson's drive to left. Kingston nearly went out in front in the eighth after Cucinello skied to left. Lucchi singled through short and Coleman blasted his second hit to right. San Filippo was intentionally passed to load the bags. Kowalek beat down a hit in front of the plate. Ruffin grabbed the ball and touched home plate to force Cucinello. Simmons ended the threat by grounding out to Watkins at short.

The Eagles won the game in the first of the ninth when Walker lashed another home run off Simmons on the first ball pitched. Walker's drive landed deep in left center field around the 421 mark.

Press Box Jottings

Good luck to Frankie San Filippo, the Rec outfielder who played his last game last night before reporting for induction into the armed forces. Frank ended his Rec season in good style. He batted out an important single in the sixth and made a nice run to grab Stone's long fly in the eighth. The Rec management made a presentation to San Filippo during the seventh inning stretch. . . . Al Cucinello pulled a grand play in the second when Park slapped one off Simmons' glove. The ball rolled in back of second and Cucinello, who was on his way to cover the second base bag, had to pivot and hustle to pick up the ball to get the runner at first. When Cucinello came up the next inning he only received a feeble hand from the crowd. As one spectator remarked, "to get a good hand from the crowd you probably have to make a triple play unassisted." . . . Ernie Downer is still shackled in his extensive slump. The Beacon Bomb-

In Farewell Game

FRANK SAN FILIPPO

The Kingston Recreations have lost another ball player to the armed forces. Last night at the municipal stadium young Frankie San Filippo, reserve outfielder, made his final appearance of the season and for the duration with the local club. Frank pinch-hit for Tommy Mannings in the sixth inning of the ball-game with the Newark Eagles and rapped a hard single over second base to drive in a run. The next time the Rhinecliff boy came to the plate, Max Mannings, the Newark hurler, gave him an intentional pass. San Filippo also made a nice running catch in the outfield to cover himself with glory in his final game before the local crowd. During the seventh inning the Recreations made a presentation to Frank. He winds up his playing for the club with a solid batting average of .380. He had collected eight hits in 21 trips to the plate and scored six runs while in a Rec uniform.

er had collected exactly two hits in his last 18 trips to the plate. His average has dwindled down to .329. . . . Tarr, Cucinello, Lucchi and Coleman slapped out two hits apiece. . . . Another fielding gem was Eddie Downer's catch of Downer's dropping fly ball in the seventh. Stone had a long run ahead and just managed to bend over and make a great catch of the sphere.

Redbirds Slice Margin to 4½ Games; Red Sox Trail New York by 7½ Contests

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals have shown the rest of the National League they aren't kidding about making a finish fight for the pennant which the Brooklyn Dodgers confidently thought they had cinched.

A tremendous stake rested on today's twilight finale of the four-game series, because the Redbirds needed to take it to get the Dodgers really tottering. But win or lose the Cardinals are making good their truculent claims that they would battle till the schedule runs out.

Down to 4½ Games

A few weeks ago Brooklyn had a ten game lead, yet the feat of the Cardinals in sweeping the first three installments of their four-game series with the National League champions in St. Louis has helped whittle this down to 4½.

Another victory for St. Louis would shrink this to 3½ games and throw the race wide open. But a triumph for the Dodgers would let them leave the Mound City with a still comfortable 5½ game advantage.

The Cardinals are waging a lone fight, for although they have won 11 and lost eight against the Dodgers this year, no other club has given Brooklyn as much as an even battle in the season's series.

This has not daunted the Redbirds, however, as they proved by capturing a second straight 2-1 extra-inning decision over the Dodgers yesterday for Johnny Beazley's 16th success.

The spunk of the St. Louis club, the Cardinals and Browns, is being exhibited too by the Boston Red Sox, who still have time to cause some commotion in the American League.

Joe Cronin's crew has won nine straight games and 15 of the last 16 to shove the lead of the New York Yankees to 7½ games.

Boston humbled the Cleveland Indians again yesterday, 4-1, on the three-hit hurling of Bill Butland. Two of the Tribe's blows came in the first inning and produced a run. In the third Tony Lupien singled with the bases loaded for two Boston runs and Manager Joe Cronin got the Sox two more with a pinch single when the bases were loaded in the eighth.

Meanwhile the Yankees dropped a 5-3 affair to the Chicago White Sox, who were making their final appearance of the year in New York and had not won a game before in the stadium. Their victim was Rookie Hank Borowy, winner of 12 games and unbeaten on his home field. He was rapped for ten hits, including two homers, in the first three frames.

In the only other American League action, the Detroit Tigers threatened Cleveland's berth in the first division by taking a double-header from the Philadelphia Athletics, 1-0 and 4-2. Virgil (Fire) Trucks outpitched unlucky Russ Christopher in the twilight tussle, although giving six hits to five.

Don Ross singled across the winning run in the ninth. Then Hal White pitched a five-hitter in the night game.

This lifted the Tigers within two games of the Indians, who have lost 14 contests while winning four in an 18-game stretch during which they never have scored more than three runs.

The third-place New York Giants of the National League snapped their five-game losing streak by battering the Cincinnati Reds for 15 hits and 11-2 triumph credited to Bill Lohrman, the nemesis who has beaten Cincinnati five times this year.

The Phils and Chicago Cubs divided a doubleheader with the tail-enders taking the first game, 1-0, in 11 innings and the Cubs capturing the nightcap, 3-0, on the five-hit shutout hurling of Rookie Bill Fleming. Danny Litwhiler's four singles and a double were the deciding factor in the opener.

Bowlers Will Meet

An important meeting of all captains of last year's Booster Bowling League teams will be held at the Central Recreation alleys Friday night at 8:30 o'clock. All pilots are requested to be on hand. Representatives of other teams who are interested in joining the league this year also are asked to attend. Plans for the coming season will be announced at this time.

Yankees Will Play Detroit Tigers in Two Games Sunday

World Champs Schedule St. Louis Browns for Double-header Next Wednesday

Two big double-headers have been planned for the New York Yankees, according to word received by The Freeman sports department this morning from Edward G. Barrow, president of the world champions.

Sunday afternoon, August 30, the Yankees will engage the Detroit Tigers in a double-bill at the Yankee Stadium. The first game is scheduled for 2 o'clock E.W.T. Although the Tigers have been slipping of late, the Baker-coached club is still dangerous and will be out to halt the Yankee express to another pennant.

Browns Next Week

The St. Louis Browns, who are now in third place in the American League standings, will make their final appearance of the year at the Stadium next Wednesday afternoon when they engage the Yankees in a double-header.

"Miracle Man" Luke Sewell, who has piloted the Browns into the first division this year, will have his club in first class condition in hopes of doing some damage to the Yankees. This is one of the greatest years for the Mound City club and it is expected that one of the largest week-day crowds will be at the Stadium to see these two clubs in action.

This twin-bill with the Browns also will be the Yankees' final home engagement with the western clubs. Following the Wednesday bargain bill, the Stadiumites have an open date Thursday and on Friday will invade Griffith Stadium in Washington to meet the Senators.

16 to 1 your tires can go a lot farther than you think!

More extra mileage than you can get by any other method short of retreading!

Nothing, of course, will replace worn off rubber except retreading. But if you can extend the life of the rubber on your present tires, you've got something of vital importance in our present emergency.

That is what Esso Dealers are now able to do!

This new service helps you get the last ounce of wear out of every tire on your car. In many cases it will extend the useful life of those tires by thousands of extra miles—keep your car running far longer than you have thought possible, even with the best of care.

It is simple and inexpensive. Every car owner can afford it. In fact, we believe no car owner today can afford to be without it.

In view of the vital need of keeping America's cars running in spite of the acute tire situation, we have tried to make this service available through Esso Dealers as fast as possible. Thousands are already equipped and trained. Your own dealer is probably among them. Ask him to show you the new Tire Life Indicator. Find out how much extra mileage you can get with this remarkable new method. Give your tires a new lease on life!
